I don't like the thick borders, the gradients and the simple, flat shape. And all in all, you only added some screen captures in it.

And I don't even see why you added the specifications for a non-existing device.

The icons on the home screen look way too plain but the borders are alright, you just got to thin it out a bit.

It's simple but looking nice too.

8/10

The X is that way to show how it would look if a button was pressed. It would enlarge a bit.

Looks good, but I'm confused on what an iGame is.

Basically it is a design of an iPad like system but is specialized for gaming.

Too much inner shadow. Overwhored with the effect.
