Thread: Delinquent anime?

Hestia - July 1, 2012, 10:43 am

I've been watching a lot of Comedy/Fighting/School Anime, And the most i liked was delinquent types.

So far i watched

Toradora
Midori Days
Akane-Iro ni Somaru Saka
Beelzebub

If anyone has another anime that is similar to this, i'd love it if you can tell me.

This is the only anime i want right now D:

Okami-san to Shichinin no Nakama-tachi

It's kind of like Toradora in a sense.

Cromartie High School

Epic delinquent comedy

Pure comedy nothing more.

I've checked out and bookmarked the suggestions that were made thus far in the thread, but I'm also interested in series like this.

To be more specific, I'm interested in one that follows the story of a high school delinquent (could be one, or a group), and involves quite a lot of fighting - like you would expect from a delinquent. Is there anything like that out there? The suggestions that were made so far don't seem to really focus on the character being a delinquent, they just use it as sort of a background for the character.

Cromarite High School.

The best two.

Katekyo hitman reborn

Serious I think this is the best recommendation, reading this had it come to my mind instantly. I'm not quite sure how good the anime is, but the manga matches what your looking for. I also have a few more, but i'm having a hard time remembering names. I'll post if I remember them.

If you decide to watch Cromarite, also watch the movie. It may not be anime, but good to squeeze the franchise for extra laughs.

I would of recommended midori day but knowing you watched it i will recommend yankee-kun to megane-chan very nice story and still on going in manga not sure about the anime.

Dear god that's a long series. I'll give it a shot though after I'm done with my current line-up.

You won't regret it as It's probably one of the more interesting anime's including delinquents crossed with shounen genre
