That -47 rep is making me have a hard time believing this.

If you did get into this website don't mess with anything unless you feel like taking a trip to the local police station.

Instead you should notify the owner of the website so he could fix the vulnerability.

With all this said I still don't believe you, but just in case please listen to what I said.

Judging by the reputation comments I'm going to assume this is another one of your failed attempts of being a troll.

-Paranoid RatzI vote for this ^

Plus if you were to report this, you would not get in trouble and may even get a reward because you just strengthened their security!

I hope you get a stone cold stunner!

inurl - July 12, 2012, 5:07 am

Man telling you have done something dasent work here....

If you say youve done it , you must proof it . Anyone can say ive done this job when is not true. and you have a really bad reputation who brings you in more doubt...

If someone with 400 positif reps who wright this , he will just add the proofs or not say nothing till is done.

Stop beeing a skid or proof what you say...
