```
Code define('DB_HOST', 'localhost');
You can't connect to it remotely.
```

You must define it different to connect remotely:

es: define('DB_HOST', 'xxx.xxx.xxx.xxx'); or mysql.remotehost.xxx depends on mysql db address.

You can connect to it with a shell or a MySQL manager on the SAME server.

r00tk1t - July 13, 2012, 1:34 pm

You can only connect to it if you are on the same server itself.

Just create a reverse proxy like NC on the MySQL server so that you can connect to MySQL on that server.
