I wish to apologize for the delay of our 100th edition. Everything seemed to go wrong this edition, so it will be released tomorrow, on Sunday the 15th.

Please don't complain, the stress that has occurred in the last ten hours would be enough to pop an artery.

-Sir

I wrote for a website a couple years before coming to HF, I'm aware how time consuming it can be and how easily things can go wrong.

Hopefully everything works out fine, and the news gets posted today :d

Qwazz - July 15, 2012, 11:16 am

If you cut out some of the non HF related stuff it would probably be a lot less time consuming.

Remember quality over quantity. Just my two cents.

I don't think that is the deal, as one person handles one thing, and they are given an entire week to do this. Plus, I personally made a thread a week or two ago telling people basically to plan for the 100th edition. Also, Sir, is on the furthest timezone there is besides Hawaii, so he still has plenty of time to make it. Just check back here in like 8 hours or so and it should be posted. A lot of the material is already there. So I really don't think we should remove material, I think we should actually have more. lol ?
