Thread: Need an avatar \(easy job easy money!\)

-Joe - July 15, 2012, 7:00 pm

Well I'm in need of an avatar..

The avatar can be as simple as possible as long as it looks good.

Why am I paying for this?

I can't be bothered finding an avatar myself so I decided to pay someone to just basically find me an avatar on the web or make it themselves.

What avatar am I looking for?

Well I want something to do with "Trading" "Marketing" (example: a business man.) that was just an example you don't have to follow that example.

I want the background to be transparent or the same colour as the hackforums background colour so it looks like it's transparent when I put it as my avatar.

That's basically it, simple and easy job for some easy money.

After choosing the avatar I'll ask the person who I choose to deal with how much they want for the avatar, I won't be paying much since all you have to do is go on google and find something and make the background transparent, it's an easy job.

My laptop that I do all my design on is currently away for repair but once it gets back in 2 days I could do something for you. PM me if you would like that.

-Joe - July 15, 2012, 7:25 pm

I'll keep you in mind but I'm sure someone will end up posting something decent since this is hardly any work needed lol.

xitoxic - July 15, 2012, 7:35 pm

do you like this?

~zander - July 15, 2012, 7:46 pm

So basically, you're going to pay someone who just goes off and steals someone else's work? Oh gosh :l ..

This is what endorses ripping.

-Joe - July 15, 2012, 7:47 pm

I was hoping for something better and somewhat more of a human being, instead of being like that actually being a human in the picture OR just the suit of a business man.

How about this

This is what endorses ripping.I'm to lazy to go on google and "steal" a picture from there, so I'll pay someone to do it or come up with a simple picture.

That's miles better, no offence to the other person.

I'll let this run for a night since I'm about to head of to bed and check out the avatars tomorrow and choose the best one.

~zander - July 15, 2012, 7:49 pm

So you're endorsing ripping? I wonder why the graphics section isn't overrun by rippers already :l

-Joe - July 15, 2012, 7:55 pm

I don't think you get the point? Ermm.

Do people normally go on google get pictures? Do you for example get renders of google? Do you get anything and copy and paste from google? Would you consider yourself ripping his work?

Well I could go ahead and google and image for myself if this thread is that bad, all I want is a simple job done which I could do myself but can't really be bothered to do it. I also said they could create the avatar themself they don't have to "steal" anyone work.

I hope this is a way made things clear, people put picture on google for a reason, I guess and 99% of the people copy and paste stuff from google, even it's not a picture.

That's pretty fucking pathetic in my opinion.

Sasori - July 15, 2012, 7:58 pm

Both images are from iconfinder.com

Do it yourself.

-Joe - July 15, 2012, 7:59 pm

Ermm so I can not waste my money on what I want? ?

Okay guys make your own avatar for me, do not steal it from google.

~zander - July 15, 2012, 7:59 pm

"I decided to pay someone to just basically find me an avatar on the web"

It's not right for someone to get credited/compensated for something they didn't make. That money should go to the original creator.

-Joe - July 15, 2012, 8:01 pm

If the original creator wanted money for it he wouldn't of put it on the web for free? He would of sold it, although I'm done arguing over this silly thing I'll just pay someone to make me an avatar without stealing it, better? ?

~zander - July 15, 2012, 8:02 pm

Do you even know how Google works, lmao?

Not everything on Google is free ..

-Joe - July 15, 2012, 8:05 pm

I know it works yes.

Are we done arguing here? I've agreed with you, I'm asking someone to make me a original avatar something to do with business etc and they can not steal it.

I'll be paying via PP.

Black Shadow - July 15, 2012, 8:10 pm

I just made this for you and you will not find it on Google ?

It goes with your userbar ?

I prefer the background to be the same colour as HF's background colour, sorry.

I'll keep your entry in mind and I'll see if anyone else makes another avatar and then choose the best one.

I'm off to bed now guys I'll check this when I wake up.

This thread is causing to many silly arguements, I shall close it.
