

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: SCU-Final post for a final review with updated guidelines

Notorious Mental - February 13, 2010, 2:20 pm

Greetings everyone. Omniscient dismantled SCU Crew (Scammer Clean Up Crew). The reason(s) was/were obvious:

Bad administration system
Bad mission defining
'Site official" sound-like
Members getting in and out freely.

Let's proceed on how these are fixed:

New group leaders

A new group leader is chosed for the group group. His name is Paradxoum and I have seen him in work too. Completely down to earth and logic guy. He is great for a group management.

His profile link: <https://hackforums.net/member.php?action=profile&uid=70881>

There will not be a problem with him as a co-leader, I assure you.

New mission defininement

Our previous goal sounded like we were an official group of HF set up by its staff. This is completely Wrong!

However, to avoid misunderstands, after discussing with the new co-leaders we came to this conclusion:

Quote:SCU canned speeches will be edited to sound less associated with HF in any possible way. Our agents will never PM a staff member regarding a scammer. As an alternative solution, scammers will get blacklisted in the marketplace. (This can be achieved by pre-caution threads on each scammer) The agents' tone will not sound like they are set from HF itself for this job, but it will show his work is voluntarily. HF staff will not interfere/ be mentioned in any way with the group. We are helping as volunteers and not as staff members/helpers.

This is our new goal. If the head administrator of the site has an objection with it, I will surely add it up there.

Recruiting

This is probably one of the most important parts. Recruitment threads proved a mess for such a group.

This is the new system we'll follow:

SCU will start with a recruiting thread. When the 5 first persons are gathered SCU members will only get in by an invitation from the leaders. They will have to meet some requirements, but they will be picked carefully before they join in. This way we avoid a headache by checking recruitment threads and SCU avoids a headache too by not have to check how the members do all the time.

Agents will be 5-10 maximum and they will only be agents which leaders chose carefully.

Finally:

Omniscient mentioned about his own guidelines regarding the group. Of course, if our guidelines come to a conflict with his we will surely change them.

The reason I am opening a thread about SCU is because omniscient mentioned that the group will be running again under new leadership and a new mission statement.

By him saying "new leadership" sounds like I cannot be a leader. However, I'd really like to see the group running again and fulfilling its purpose. Even without me in the leaders. I trust paradoxum to run it. I'd like Omniscient to reconsider his thoughts on the group as I updated some organization steps above. His word in the thread will be the final for this group.

Thank you.

MyNameIs940 - February 13, 2010, 2:22 pm

You just don't give up do you?

iBruteforce - February 13, 2010, 2:23 pm

Your group straight up sucks.

Notorious Mental - February 13, 2010, 2:24 pm

(Feb 13, 2010 03:23 PM)iBruteforce Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Your group straight up sucks.

I'll take this as a no from an admin. I guess it's done then. I won't open a thread about SCU again.

iBruteforce - February 13, 2010, 2:25 pm

Final decision belongs to Omniscient.

Omniscient - February 13, 2010, 3:47 pm

You have no say in this. It's over.