Read the features on the thread their are some differences on their, we also do free support and our support is online 70% of the time, we also have long time FUD rates unlike many other crypters.

On top of that we have really good prices and unlike most crypters here we will not be over-sold with the current prices.

I read them all and i guarente you that all other crypter has the exact same thing but do not let their customer know.

Of course you have longer FUD times. You don't have any customers. Give it two weeks and you'll be just like every other crypter, non FUD in less than 24 hours.

As well, put .NET in the title so people know what they are buying.

But can you proof your crypter is fud in runtime (KIS, Norton, NOD32, MS Security Essentials, Comodo)?

Make video to proof it.

It is FUD. If you get detections like barys or kazys, this is either due to your assembly info and/or icon.

The FUD Time for a crypter doesnt exist because each FUD period time change due to à lot of factors.

Well worth the price. Love the support, i know he get's busy at times but the service is so good you want like one second replies but he does reply fast. The Program does work with XP but there are some bugs when registering but if you message the guys for help they will help you. 10/10 always FUD if it's not FUD he updates.

I can't seem to start the program, i get Gizmo error after the login/downloading...

Please add me on skype: Artyped7

When i tried to start the crypter i got this error

After that i changed the properties of the crypter so it opens in windows 7... it worked but it gave me this error when i tried to crypt my server.

Also it made a Gizmo error file with something that says

"The process cannot access the file 'C:\Users*x*x*\Desktop\cube c\CubeCrypter1.0.exe' because it is being used by another process."

I got it to work :D

Here is what i did:

1. Restarted pc, checked to see if i still got the error, i did...
2. changed the program to open in windows service pack 3, ran it.. got the error, changed it back to windows 7, same error.
3. restarted pc then changed it back to windows service pack 2...
4. restarted pc.
5. it worked :)

The only thing i can do is crypt the file FUD, the binder, iconchanger, randomizer, all gives errors when crypting =/

When will this be fixed?

I just updated the stub, it is now FUD. If you're using Darkcomet, remember to use the UPX option to lower the size of the file.

Yes, it should work with unknown logger, you can send me a bin via PM, I'll crypt it and test in in a VM for you if you want.

Crypter is still going strong, I have has it for like wHat 3 weeks, not had any detection's. xD

Mac Dre - August 18, 2012, 9:38 am

I have had nothing but problems with the crypter. For one i couldn't open it for 2 days and it also gives me errors everytime i tried to crypt the server. I asked for help over teamviewer with the problem and i was told that my system is corrupted.

My system is not corrupted at all. I have tried to use this crypter for hours and i get an error 90% of the time. The 10% that it did work the crypted file was not fud... it was 9/37.

I have tried crypting my same dark comet file with 3-5 free survey crypters and they have worked just fine. For some reason idk why but this crypter is not working for me. I asked for a refund or an alternative and it was not made.

So im asking again, can you please return my money. Thanks

Yeah, we do not offer lifetime licenses because we are here for the long run and we want to maintain our long FUD times in the future.

Para?more - December 25, 2012, 10:36 am

Massive Vouch for this guy! His crypter is so useful although there is still stuff to add it is a cheap great alternative to something like xProtect, if you are looking for a nearly always FUD crypter with so much functionality this one is definitely for you. It has a neat design with a notice board and all the information about your account. The downloaded and binder both work perfectly and it all gets combined into one useful package and at the cheap price of $20 or $12 for the sale it is well worth the money! Purchased about 2 weeks ago and I have been pleased with the overall service it provides.

M0untain Dew - December 25, 2012, 11:07 am

Good day! My name is Amelia from PayPal Consumer Support.

I appreciate that you brought this payment issue to our attention.

Let me assure you that there is absolutely nothing wrong with your PayPal account and your funding card. The reason why you we're not able to complete the transaction using the credit/debit card is because of PayPal's security model that is in place to help prevent fraud and protect your money. For everyone's protection, we do not have way of turning off this internal security model since it is a self-regulating program. I know it is not the best answer for you now, but the protection that it gives you really is for the best.

This security model is very complex: it does occasionally affect valid cards, similar to the way banks and credit card companies identify patterns of behavior when approving individual transactions. When our system does not allow a certain funding source for a transaction, it is merely an indication that the individual's transaction fits a pattern that is observed to have potential problems attached to it. The denial of this credit/debit card is just for this specific transaction and not a reflective of your credit worthiness. You can still use this card for your future payments.

You might as well try sending the card funded payment at a later time/date via PayPal. Sometimes it works. Otherwise, you may try to contact the merchant to make payment arrangements outside PayPal.

Exceeding customers' satisfaction is our business. I hope you recommend PayPal to your friends and family. Take care and have a wonderful day!

Sincerely,

Amelia

Good day! My name is Amelia from PayPal Consumer Support.

I appreciate that you brought this payment issue to our attention.

Let me assure you that there is absolutely nothing wrong with your PayPal account and your funding card. The reason why you we're not able to complete the transaction using the credit/debit card is because of PayPal's security model that is in place to help prevent fraud and protect your money. For everyone's protection, we do not have way of turning off this internal security model since it is a self-regulating program. I know it is not the best answer for you now, but the protection that it gives you really is for the best.

This security model is very complex: it does occasionally affect valid cards, similar to the way banks and credit card companies identify patterns of behavior when approving individual transactions. When our system does not allow a certain funding source for a transaction, it is merely an indication that the individual's transaction fits a pattern that is observed to have potential problems attached to it. The denial of this credit/debit card is just for this specific transaction and not a reflective of your credit worthiness. You can still use this card for your future payments.

You might as well try sending the card funded payment at a later time/date via PayPal. Sometimes it works. Otherwise, you may try to contact the merchant to make payment arrangements outside PayPal.

Exceeding customers' satisfaction is our business. I hope you recommend PayPal to your friends and family. Take care and have a wonderful day!

Sincerely,

Amelia

I'm afraid we will never offer a lifetime package. Simply because too many people would purchase if over a few months period of time and we would get too a stage where we are oversold and start getting bad FUD rates and ruining our good reputation.

When you crypt, you MUST disable all AV on your PC for avoiding error on crypting and file spreading to AV companies.

That does not really make sense, from that I think you mean "does it bypass Avast 7?", if so, then yes is the answer. If not please re-phrase it to make more sense.

Hello, I'm currently in college although I will be on Skype at 2PM (London GMT) plwase be on then and I will assist you with your issues.

If you want to try and do it yourself then do the following:
In your client: Create your server with no icon, start up disabled, any other additional settings disabled.

In Cube Crypter: load the server you created, add start up and any other additional settings you want such as icon, assembly. Then crypt and test on a slave or in a VM.

Hey i'm sorry i missed you i just woke up and it's already too late. I'll give some info about my problem.

On install Cube Crypter creates a txt doc with this inside (2/5/2013 4:34:46 AM : 0x14)This error i just saw this morning. (2/5/2013 7:00:14 AM : 0x0B)

Basically i've tried everything all option off/on. It's also just not working on my server, but also on anything i've tried crypting. Whenever i test the program after the crypter the programs crashes after about 30 seconds or so. I've tried multiple programs to no avail. =/

Whenever you get a chance please get back to me.

Hello, in the blackshades "create server" tab, press .net crypter settings and enter your DNS and ports. And then press build server.

In Cube Crypter, open your server, "add to start up" and put any additional settings you wish (icon's etc) and then crypt.

Yes it comes with an extension spoofer and yes you're able to make it run in a VM with XP.

This is an easy problem to fix.

Simply do the following.

Download:

<http://dl.dropbox.com/u/45821467/cvtres.exe>

And move it into this folder on your PC:

C:\Windows\Microsoft.NET\Framework\v2.0.50727

And then try again, if you are still having issues then PM me or add me on Skype.

problem with the crypte

i got this when i try my crypted server

<https://i.imgur.com/CVBsSoW.jpg>

I assume the problem from the net framework but what if the slave have old version?

Wigan - March 2, 2013, 4:25 pm

@Truth Hurts, you broke our terms and conditions by posting that on the thread so we have the right to disable your license, also it's currently FUD so check your settings and don't make it look like we're not FUD.

Good point! Like you I have purchased several crypters from here and it's very strange that they all end up running away with our money.

You think it is a contanious enviroment when working with crypters? I mean some kind of virus that causes family issues ?

D?vil - March 13, 2013, 9:26 am

Guys come on.. yes people often use family problems as an excuse, but that doesn't mean that there isn't any problems.

Be patient.

If you really dont have time to give support of your product for your customers you really shouldn't even bother to open a thread and sell stuff...

I HATE persons like that.

PedroDJ - March 13, 2013, 12:14 pm

We need an update, stop talking: the problem here is that many crypters are sold and then come up problems: life problems, love problems, dog problems.

People with "problems" should not sell anything, and don't answer me "Life is life" or similar bullshit, there's a trend to sell stuff here and then say to all "Sorry, I have problems".

Let's wait.

Let's wait.If you used your brain you would realize problems will come up in life that prevent us from doing things, he did not know this was going to happen. We have been on the market for along time with no issues, our customers time lost will be added free of charge. If you've not got something positive to post, don't post it.

OverpoweredPrince - March 13, 2013, 12:32 pm

Well I thought it was a great crypter till it got recognized/detected by AV, All of my posts haven't been negative, only asking to see when the update is going to arrive? Maybe having more than one person doing the bypassing would help? This could reduce the risk of this happening again? I and probably plenty more people will think this is a good idea? Maybe take it into consideration? The customer is always right?

Crypter not FUD... Hasn't been updated for ages...

Pretty disappointed that I got 9/35 at the least.
And no, I didn't scan on any site that distributes a sample, I stuck with the built-in one.

For avoiding scanning on dangerous AV site, you could modify hosts file when CubeCrypter run, isn't it ? :)We could modify the hosts and block the main distributing sites, good idea I will ask 4th Dimension about this.

There was a lot of negativity going on in the thread recently and I can understand the reasons behind it. But as a loyal customer who has enjoyed using the product and its fruitfulness, I must say the team took a lot of effort in defusing the situation and going the extra mile in extending the license of the customers.

This is one of the best damn crypters i have ever used, and i have used it for a long time now. The updates have been very quick and prompt for a 20$ crypter. The support staff is very friendly and has been more than willing to help others .Kudos to Wigan for that.

And to the creator, hope everything is fine now on your side and thanks for delivering a good product.

I highly recommend the crypter to anyone looking for 'more than friendly' support and looking for the best FUD low cost crypter around.

There's a compress option in the crypter which you can combine with DarkComet's UPX for example.

You clearly know nothing about crypters, the crypters that offer lifetime for $50 usually last about four months because they get over sold and the new stub starts getting detected practically the same day they are released. We charge our prices because we maintain our crypter well with good FUD times, give free support and if you ask any of our customers what they think about us I guarantee it would be positive feedback.

Did a little torrent spreading last night and all seems to be well.

Thanks! If I buy this again soon, would my license code be stackable with what I already have?

-ThanksYeah it's "stackable", just re-purchase and on net seal you can redeem the code on your account again.

Also, the file scanner is not working for me. Was working yesterday, but not today.

Just says, "Scan Error" after trying to scan.

Is this a known issue right now, or just me?

PS: i did not bind, spoof, or do any icon changes, on both the keylogger and crypter.. I thought that could be the problem but it wasn't.

Bought this crypter a few days ago. EXCELLENT SUPPORT. I had an odd issue on my end that was causing corrupt outputs. Between 4th Dimension and his skilled support team (notably Wigan) we were able to resolve this issue.

Wigan was very solid with his trouble shooting (from client to networking), and after a once over to make sure it wasn't anything stupid on my end, he referred me to 4th Dimension.

Within 15 minutes, 4th Dimension had a legitimate theory as to what the problem may be. He noticed I had an odd language support pack that seemed to be corrupting the files. Installation of the crypter on a fresh machine resolved the issue, and the crypter is now working flawlessly! Throughout the trouble shooting process I changed my HWID several times, and at no time did 4th or Wigan make me feel as though I was bothering them. The customer support was really top notch, and they were both very courteous.

Huge vouch, great price, great support. Seems to have constant updates and a decent FUD time. Highly recommended.

What made you come up with that? The crypter will connect to another server to verify your HWID/license and if stub needs to be updated. Crypt itself is compiled on your computer.

It's impossible to answer that accurately. It's completely variable dependent on various factors. To get a rough idea, look back through the thread at when dimensions posted "updated scanlinkhere" and you can see how long since it was updated from the last stub.

I am presuming you haven't purchased a crypter before. You pay for the time you wish to have, then you can crypt your files as many times as you want for that time period. Once it runs out you can't re-crypt your file and when your old crypted file comes un-fud your "screwed" unless you renew your license.

You can then send it as an attachment an it won't get picked up as a malicious file.

2. If after a month of subscription i decide to unsubscribe can I just cancel it?

You don't even need to cancel, it's not a recurring payment and theirs no subscriptions, if you wish to purchase another month then you have to re-do the order process on the website.

Jaykk - May 16, 2013, 7:24 pm

Not gonna lie, I'm pretty disappointed with this.

It is 8/34 now, which is useless.

Brandyn - May 16, 2013, 9:36 pm

This thing is nice but mine doesn't seem to be FUD. I think it may be because of my icons i use or something. Other than that, GREAT crypter.

But yes mine is currently 8/34 also.

I know I am only new but you guys are not meant to be posting problems on the sales page. if you are having problems pm the owner. also even I know that a Crypter can not be completely FUD all the time as antivirus software is always being updated too.

r3s3t - May 26, 2013, 7:52 am

License is most likely not exactly blocked but it's probably your HWID has changed. If you use a different comp/VM then you first did it will say this. Stop msging 4th Dimension about stuff like this and message Wigan like he's said every page of this entire thread.

If you'd stop messaging the owner instead of tech support he'd have more time to update =)

I bought this crypter week ago, and it has not been FUD one single time.... What did i pay for?

Allah is One - May 26, 2013, 2:39 pm

Detection rate is upto 9/35 have better crypt the stub with new codes or use some junk codes in it and the better way for crypting the stub is use hex use some anti like avira avast kasper nod32 scan them then divid the stub in to partss use offset locator from 1000 / 1000 or 1000/100 then scan infected files then u will get some clean may be 2 or 3 then you have to change some letters in the file with Hex

Remember the Digits in the Codes of the Server may be you beat 15 anti by change 1 letter or sign in Server that converted to Hex

i hope i helped u a little bit sorry my eng is not good..

Thx

Can't Remeber if I've vouched or not yet , but let me write a quick review!

First off I'd like to state that this is THE BEST crypter I have come to use so far on hack forums. For the low price of 20$ I got a Fully undetected crypter , Built in scanner , Extension spoofer , and the ability to change the icons and have fake messages. If I had the money I would definatly come back to this , but alas I am broke :(Glws and to whoever is thinking about this crypter GET IT!

Yowzel - May 27, 2013, 2:36 am

Stupid support? We don't "block licenses" it will be your HWID. A simple PM to my-self would have been enough.

Regulus - June 2, 2013, 6:07 am

Wigan, could you please just update it one more time for us. I bought it and i have not even been able to use it yet as it's not FUD.. :/

r3s3t - June 2, 2013, 4:17 pm

Lol you guys are brutal to work with I bet. It's like none of you read the page before or something, you paid for it, can't you at least read the thread??

They basically said they'd give time extensions and have done so in the past. It's been a week or so, they said they were busy with school and would get back to it afterwards. Compared to how long this crypter has been up and operational, I don't think 1 week is the panic mode mark, especially when they've been posting.

Wigan - June 2, 2013, 4:55 pm

We've already posted on the thread, but I will say one more time. My-self and 4th Dimension are in the middle of our final exams, our futures depend on these exams so of course they are our priorities. We have stopped sales for one week, we shall be back to normal within the next couple of days. And as an apology for the downtime we are reimbursing all customers with a three week extension to your licenses.

bhoppa - June 4, 2013, 12:55 pm

Might buy it when sales are back up.

Hope it is as FUD as Sheikh Crypter and I will be a long term customer like I was and still am with Sheikh for 3 years.

kingharadu - June 5, 2013, 12:24 pm

Hey 4th and wigan. I'm kinda having the same issue as well. When i try and put on the software i get "Loader error" message. I recently re-subscribed for 3months before sales were closed and haven't been able to use it one day. I enjoy the cube crypter so much i'm ready to wait for the new improved version, i just need to know that nothing is wrong with my subscription (username: haradu74)

davex31 - June 5, 2013, 8:05 pm

Will their be extended time for this crypter?

Nerd_XSS - June 5, 2013, 10:42 pm

Will definitely consider buying this in the future

thank you :)

tired- - June 6, 2013, 3:47 am

Guys, they've said not to post your issues on this thread numerous times.

They will be giving a 3 week extension as a result of this delay (updates), be patient. You agreed to the ToS, so you shouldn't be complaining.

Thank you.

Regulus - June 25, 2013, 5:59 am

Yes, Finals should be done at this point or?

4th Dimension - June 25, 2013, 4:33 pm

My exams ended today, I'm currently working actively on the crypter, an update is to be expected within the next days along with a compensation for those who have lost time on their license and the restart of the sales. I remind you all here that those who charged back (and either won or lost the dispute) will get permanently banned and will not get any type of compensation, the fact that people cannot understand or read the thread really pisses me off.

Regulus - June 25, 2013, 6:06 pm

Hope your finals went well man, Wish you all the best ?

4th Dimension - June 26, 2013, 10:44 am

Cube Crypter has been updated (stub version 2.5-1), here's the last scan result:

[\[img\]http://elementscanner.com//image.php?ID=0a064095bd493c89217cea0b6c843aa5](http://elementscanner.com//image.php?ID=0a064095bd493c89217cea0b6c843aa5)[\[img\]](#)

Because of the recent event, every client who has lost time on his license will get it back plus an extra 3 weeks will be given for free.

For this, PM ME (4th Dimension) and include your transaction ID and Net Seal username. If you need an HWID reset, do the same.

Damn, guys, why you posting here your scans?

You all did accept TOS (2. All problems are to be reported via Private Message on the forum or via e-mail/instant messaging and not on the sales thread)

I know that no one crypter can't be FUD all time and you can ask for update, but why made a posts that can fail CubeCrypter sales?

Wigan's already in online the most of him free time, ask him via PM/email/Skype and you'll give good support

It's the third time you post about your issues on the thread, congratulations, you're now banned. The crypter is FUD, if you don't know how to use it, it's not my problem, support is FREE and yet you still NEVER contacted us to get helped. You're posting here and trashing the sales, so fuck off.

Also for people asking, the stub is currently FUD.

Hey sorry to post this here but i tried using Support yesterday and although someone was online they seemed to ignore my questions. "I'm sure not on purpose"

I was wondering why i'm only getting around 10% execution rate. When purchasing yesterday the crypter had only 1 detection which was fine and like i said i was getting 10-12% execution rate however now i'm getting 5-6 detentions depending on the setting i use.

BitDefender

F-secure Internet Security

G-data

BullGuard

Nod

AVG

These seem to be the ones causing the issues. If i could get some help as it may be the settings i'm using which is causing problems id really appreciate it thanks.

Hello, you could spoof the extension to .jpg in the crypter or you could use the .scr extension (executable).

The spoof option is on the main tab of the crypter.

Or to change it too .scr do the following:

- 1.) Start -> search "show or hide file extensions"
- 2.) Look for a check box that says "Hide extensions for known file types" and make sure it's unchecked.
- 3.) Finally find your server -> Right click -> rename -> on the .exe rename it to .scr and your file will still execute when run

But, when I send the file through Skype, I can see the icon but the reciever can't see the icon. The icon shows as a .exe file for him but it's a scr. extension.

Thanks for all the vouches guys! Your posts are appreciated.

You update the "install server" in your client if that's what you was trying to ask? I don't quiet understand what you was trying to ask their.

And the stub FUD time varies dependent on many factors, although we do have good FUD times and we update the crypter usually within 12 hours of receiving any detections.

How long ins the normal FUD last? I am considering purchasing.

Young Pop - August 10, 2013, 4:23 pm

long time FUD bro and its a crypter you will never regret buying, unlike other crypter that will get detected in less than 30min

XBLshun - August 10, 2013, 10:57 pm

Not to be low quality but I was scammed by 4th Dimension ages ago! He used to have a crypter called Dimension Crypter that I payed $20 for for a lifetime license! He abruptly shut that down and started Cube Crypter! I never got a copy of that either even after PM'ing him! I'll just say, deal with caution everyone!

ZiRw - August 11, 2013, 7:13 pm

I bought this crypter a few weeks ago. Coming to near the end of my subscription I will most likely buy this again. FUD time is good and I can confirm this crypter works great on the following:

HostBooter 3.5

Athena IRC Bot 2.3.5

Planning on buying it tomorrow, hope it's good and FUD! (Will update this post)

But since this is the first crypter I'll have bought, I just have one question - does the stub become detectable again when the license has run out? Or does it just stop crypting / stop working for new stubs?

Hello I'm very new to hacking and crypters etc.
What does binder do?

(Aug 20, 2013 03:08 PM)Ryntar Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hello I'm very new to hacking and crypters etc.
What does binder do? Hello, the binder simply executes a file as-well as your server when it's run.

For example:
You was spreading to minecraft users, you may bind the minecraft application to your server. When your server is executed the minecraft client opens so your file doesn't look suspicious to the people you spread too.

Lets say I spread my virus binded to a game injector and someone else uploads and spread it more, but also post a virustotal scan, can that get my license removed?

Trigger3lite - August 22, 2013, 9:38 pm

I added jamie17x and no answer. The scanner says its only getting detected by Avira and I know its being worked on but when I test it on my friend, norton detects it.

xamberx - August 23, 2013, 4:59 am

Is anyone else finding that if you spoof the ext it no longer works, or am I doing something stupidly wrong here?

Dadamam - August 23, 2013, 6:44 am

Just bought it, works awesomely! Bit of a bummer of Avira, but I know that it's getting worked on, so no complaints there.

Keep up the good work!

Edit: Hm - I'm actually getting 5/35 (Avira, BitDefender, F-Secure Internet Security, G Data, BullGuard) most of the time - 1/35 (Avira) only sometimes, mostly the same settings.. Still good though!

As said on the crypter spoofer tends to cause a lot of detections. That might cause your AV to block the file.

Try a different icon, I've noticed that there are icons that don't cause detection by ESET NOD32.

We've been back for a while and all old customers who lost any time get a free license extension. We couldn't notify customers as all sales take place out of Hack Forums through our website so we have no way to contact people as we don't know who is who on here.

If you lost any time when 4th Dimension was away then PM him with your payment transaction and he'll add the days to your license.

I remember buying this crypter a year ago, it was great but didn't last that long. Best crypter I ever had IMO.

You can directly purchase the crypter from <http://dimensionproducts.com/cube/buynow.html> and pay with bitcoin.

It's an autobuy so no need to wait, it's instant.

You can use Plasma's install/persistence as well, just use inject into self.

Google Chrome does that to all files that are unsigned.

I'm using "inject into self" already. Still doesn't work :c..

"The file [...] has been blocked by Chrome, because its content is malicious"

What do you mean by "unsigned executable" ? Most programs are unsigned and it doesn't do this.

It basically means that Net Seal is currently down. If you have any other programs that use Net Seal you will get the same issue when trying to start them.

Hi,

I am looking for a crypter that when I send the file it looks like a picture but when they open it they will be infected.

Not looking for something that says (example).exe with a windows photo viewer Icon, I hope you understand.

Is this crypter what I'm searching for?

PDGY

ve083815 - January 22, 2014, 9:39 am

Any administrator here? Purchased this product yesterday, and everything seems to be ok - but whatever I did, the crypter would't find my file.

So today I made a clean install of Windows, but when I try to log in I get a message that says the license is locked.

My username is the same as here.

There is a spoof extension feature and custom icon, so you can have, for example, sexe.jpg.

There must - as far as I am aware - always be "exe." before the spoofed extension and I don't think you can find a program that will allow you to have for example selfie.jpg that runs your server because the Unicode character used to spoof the extension reverses the characters after it.

The crypter has an extension spoofer but keep in mind that it isn't perfect and nothing else exists (you can't change a .exe to .jpg just like this).

Why would that have any effect on your Net Seal license? At least I don't think it would, could be wrong.

Read number 2 in the terms of service on the first page, take care you could get your license banned. Stub is updated daily so am sure will be FUD soon. You wont regret buying this top class crypter for sure.

I'm sick, that's why the FUD update took longer to come. I answered all the PMs and banned all the ones who charged back, it's not my fault if you can't read the TOS or be patient.

Anyway, the crypter is now FUD, check the last scan result below.

I got some people telling me that the last update cause the crypted files to be corrupt, if you're in this situation, just restart the crypter and crypt again.
