(Jun 5, 2012 10:58 PM)Inspector Gadget Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) first impression was brilliant!

opened the folder 2 files hwid scanner and the crypter itself, so simple!
login was activated in a couple of minutes

First few minutes i was having issues with the updater but after i gave up seeing if there was an update i got it opened up and got to work.

The layout is awesome! simple and explained really well anyone could use it.

I had a little issue with the icon selection so maybe add a couple of .ico files into the pack as i had to find one from google to use.

Clicked crypt and within 3 seconds it was on my desktop crypted and fully working, although it did keep opening "my computer" when i run the crypted rat.

This crypter is worth every penny!

Ease of use 9/10

gui quality 10/10

looks 9/10

speed 10/10

functions 5/10

bug to age ration 8/10 very low ammount of bugs for such a new crypter.

Here is a quick breakdown:

Review: Before buying, I was a tad skeptical and decided to contact him via skype, as soon as I added him, within 5 minutes he accepted me and the deal was underway. He advised me to use the AutoBuy feature, and I did so. Once the process was completed my crypter was working out of the box. Activated. I asked him questions, and he answered all of them. I scanned the EXE and ClamAV found it out of 32 other anti's however within 10 minutes the owner of this crypter pushed out a new update. Love this, HIGHLY recommended.

Anyone crypting with any AV's open is obviously contaminating the results for everybody else, they should be banned from the crypter to be perfectly broad, for every other customer's well being.

And we do see above who uses ESET. I'm just saying.

OK. lemme tell you guys something bout the next update.

I am working on a fully new system wich will make us able to have 600-700 kb (without upx) or a 200-300kb (with upx) encrypted .exe as output.

also will your bots update their self with the newest FUD stub by theirselves.

C&P copys will all go down and the main .exe will only contain bout 10 lines of basic autoit code.

the new encrypted .exes will only run on PCs with internet access so the most AV companys will not even able to run them on their conserved VMs.

Also i will use a complet now way to confuse them (never seen before).

All actions of the crypted files will be encrypted in much more then one way in future.

Dont worry my brahs. i will update it soon and this project will stay alive!

After this update a crypting revultution reaches HF!

It is coded in VB6, which has no dependencies I believe.

When you support .NET, I will be willing to test your crypter with my server(s) to make sure it works.

Arckos - August 21, 2012, 6:53 am

Wow, just scanned a new file, razors been working on ribbs or w.e, and hasnt updated it but yet its still only detected by eset. same with the LE, no new AV's are detecting it, i'd say thats pretty impressive :P

XPIØde - August 21, 2012, 7:07 am i love this crypter and razor is doing a good job but the crypter isnt just deteced by eset.

my kaspersky detects it too and i think many other av will do this.

i really need an update cause my slaves are dieing :(

News:

Hello (: Here are some news:

The RIBSS update is nearly done, i solved a few problems and am fixing the last bugs now. I will make some tests and will hopefully be able to release it soon.

Also in future all our products will be handelt by an launcher. That means that you can launch all our products with one click from one programm.

Here is a screenshot of the beta version i builded:

Also the RIBSSystem will choose 1 out of 10 (maybe later more) avaivable stubs randomly. That will increase our FUD times.

Also lemme explain RIBSS a bit:

Crypter crypts your file > writes the encrypted data in an C++ .exe that i name the RIBSSL(Razor's internet based stub system loader).

So the output .exe doesn't even contain the STUB (!).

Another pro for that method is, that it will only add a few KB to the original filesize.

The Loader download a random stub from one of our servers and run's it and give's the stub the encrypted data. This all happens in Memory. So there are a few things that are really good: Your encrypted data doesnt get dropped everywhere, the stub also only is temporary stored in the momory. so the AV companys will not be able to distrubute the stub itself. the only thing that can be distributet is the loader, wich only contains really basic C++ funtions, wich will not get detected because it would cause too many false positives for other programmes. You see i put a lot of work and all my avaivable knoweledge and ideas in this project. I am sorry that there wasn't an update for that long time, but i can promisse you all it's worth waiting for it.

Regards, Razor.

PS: If you have any questions about the crypter/RIBSS don't be aware to ask (:
