Thread: User on hf hacked one of my origin accounts

Abdilo - August 15, 2012, 4:12 am

Hello,

I let the user: <https://hackforums.net/member.php?action=profile&uid=1014929> have access to my bf3 account if he let me use his booter. He gave me a 1 month code so I let him use my account for one month I told him if he wanted to keep on using it he would have to give me more months and he didn't so I told him if he wants it he has to buy it off me and he goes and changes my email to the account and now the ea support will not give me my account back. So what happens? Does this user get banned or what?

Staff will not take action for any off-site activity, which means that unless you have PMs to prove this nothing will happen.

That's bullshit and you know it. Stop making false accusations. Why the hell would I steal your BF3 account? I have more than enough to buy my own. Think.

So you did a trade, he gave you booter access and you lent him an account? If so, then I say this would count as scamming. Staff still won't take action for any deals/trades made on HF, so I would suggest you to create a scam report in the deal dispute section.

This is not the right place to discuss this.

You can't get him banned. You can just post a scam report to warn other members!

Ryan' - August 15, 2012, 4:20 am

Make a thread in the deal dispute section: Deal Disputes

As mentioned, staff won't take any action...

Is it just me, or can't I see any proof of what happened?

Don't be pathetic. Proof shouldn't be posted here but in the deal dispute section.

well if any admin wants to help me the email that the user changed my bf3 account to is: xnickx77@hotmail.co.uk so if anyone can prove its not 1337Booter then please pm me proof!

Because the day I asked for more time on the booter was the day it got changed!

Do this:

1. Close this thread.
2. Gather some proof that he did what you're accusing him of.
3. Post a thread in the deal dispute section.

Staff won't take action, neither will any admin.

Mr Kewl - August 15, 2012, 4:51 am

Action would be only taken if he hacked your HF account.

Just open a Deal Dispute against him.

Strokes? - August 15, 2012, 4:58 am

Action most likely will not be taken.

Close this thread though and open a thread in Deal Disputes.
