The quality of the information provided is above the average. The information provided by the author is strict and concise yet it explains everything needed. The author has not included a lot of additional details which would make it easier for the user to fasten up the process described in this e-book.

[img]http://img231.imageshack.us/img231/8668/easeofuse8.png[/img]

The author tempted to create a decent step-by-step e-book to describe the process on an easy way, in which he has succeeded. Besides from a bit of explanation about each subject he has also included screenshots elaborating the step.

[img]http://img822.imageshack.us/img822/2007/layout6o.png[/img]

The e-book has got a nice background color and the images are centered. The e-book is created in a black on white form which makes it a bit hard to read from time to time. Additionally, the extra information floating around inside of some images make it hard to read the text surrounding it.

[img]http://img88.imageshack.us/img88/6595/grammar7.png[/img]

The author has kept the grammar utilized in this e-book rather basic to prevent mistakes being made. Besides from some overcapitalized words there is not a lot I have noticed.

[img]http://img846.imageshack.us/img846/1675/originality8.png[/img]

I have never seen this method before so I ought it to be quite unique. I have done some research after free methods similar to this one and have not found a good one.

[img]http://i367.photobucket.com/albums/oo119/mistahellfire/notes.png[/img]

If I were the author I would lower the price. $15 for this e-book is a bit overrated. Yet it is a decent method which can be useful from time to time.

Good luck with sales!

Is this just text or can this work for calling verification?

Zoidberg - August 16, 2012, 1:34 pm

It works for both. All calls/texts forward to your phone.

So it would be different numbers every time correct.

You can add as many numbers as you want, and they'll all forward to your phone. It acts as a proxy. So, yes. Correct.

This may seem a stupid question, but what if you don't have a phone and you'll need to verify using one? Will this method work?

Will this work on sites which detect VOIP such as PlayerAuctions?
Where are the numbers located?

Where are the numbers located?

Not sure, but there's a money back guarantee. As for the numbers, you can pick any area code including international.

So you're saying that those surveys which require you to submit your number and register with them can be done using this method? Even if they charge that $10 per week?

It won't cost anything. Even if they attempt to charge that $10/week.
