?nonymous - August 19, 2012, 4:28 am

Dear Sirs

Spoiler (Click to View) I was originally going to create a giveaway where I would simply give out five copies to the ones who posted first, but then I thought 'Why give out to some random people, who were just lucky enough to see the thread first?'

I then decided that I won't simply give to those who saw my thread first, but rather to those who really needed it.

How to participate:

Write a short post stating why I should give you a license.

Please include from which country you would like the VPN to be from in your post (See bottom of this thread for available servers).

Ideas:

- Why you can't afford it yourself.
- Why you need a secure VPN.
- Why you think you deserve it.
- Which features appeal to you.

(Write a text, don't simply copy/paste this.)

Licenses left to win: 0/5

I'll be reading all your posts and I'll decide who to pick along the way.

Winners will be contacted by PM, and announced here by adding their post.

I'll update the 'Licenses left to win'-counter as winners are found.

Best of luck to everyone,
Enigma

Winners so far (4/5):

Would not state some long stories....

I live in India & need some special protection while downloading stuff via torrents n some other websites. This awesome VPN application would be a blessing for me.

Was in a real need of something like this. It will really make my life easy.

Features like - Unlimited bandwidth, no logs kept would be an added advantage for me.

And yes, I would prefer US servers!

Thanks in advance ?

I don't have money.I need a secure VPN to practice and sharp my skills like SQL injection,XSS,LFI,RFI etc.I Don't do defacing shit.I do web hacking to only learn it and take experience.I have heard about your VPN lot.I don't harm any websites or delete there database. I know I'm not doing any evil work but I still need protection. I could hardly practice these skills because I don't have a premium VPN. I always use free [censored] VPN. I know it keeps logs and I'm unsafe but on the other side I'm much curious to learn web hacking. I want VPN that doesn't keep logs. I love studying practically than theoretically. No one will understand web hacking till he does it practically. Even whitehat guys have to do such things to learn it. I like your VPN's Feature No limitations

No logs will be kept

No expiration of the VPN

Easily setup the connection

Data packages are highly encrypted

I provide support if you experience problem

Ideal for hiding those "special online" activities

I will tell you later about server that I prefer after thinking and asking someone.
Thanks for awesome contest.?

I would like to own this VPN because: I would like to be anonymous when surfing the web and access pages I normally can not access in some locations. I like that there are no logs kept, all data is encrypted and you have customer support if needed and best yet I like the theme/gui that goes with the VPN!

thanks for this great contest, hope I win a copy :D

Illovro - August 19, 2012, 7:27 am

Well because I'm younger than 18 I still don't have credit card and my parents won't let me use their credit card since someone stole like 1.5k from our credit card and of course my father blames PayPal. If I would have money and credit card I would probably buy Enigma VPN. I need this VPN so I can do surveys (I live in Slovenia and most surveys aren't available in my country) and to hack and do illegal stuff like that.

What I really like about Enigma VPN is that it doesn't keep logs and it's only 5$ lifetime (but as I stated above I can't buy it because I don't have credit card >.>).

And I think I don't deserve this VPN because only thing I'm doing on this forum is taking stuff and not giving anything back to the community.

If I win this VPN I would like it to be from Switzerland.

I also dig the whole anonymous look of this VPN.

screwtap3 - August 19, 2012, 7:31 am

I would like this because I have not been able to pay for a good VPN because I was kicked out of my

?rtificial - August 19, 2012, 8:48 am

The reason I want this is because of security and testing purposes. As you know being on a VPN helps a lot when doing numerous things. I like to try out new products and see how they compare to some of the others and see what is so great about that specific product. Plus, I can't afford it. No joke.

Before I choose which country I want mines in, can you tell me the port speed for each of those countries?

mr.booz - August 19, 2012, 10:06 am

- Why you can't afford it yourself.

I don't have a job right now. I'm going to college so I can only afford things strictly for survival purposes.

- Why you need a secure VPN.

I've been getting into the hacking world lately for the past couple of years. Already I have learned a ton and I have an unnatural hunger for this game. The process of learning to hack is intoxicating and I love it. Being relatively new to the field (live practice anyway, I've been an armchair 'hacker' for a while), I don't have a set of reliable tools and this would be a great opportunity to get me started with securing my actions.

- Why you think you deserve it.

I like to think that I fall into a low percent of my peers in this field where the only thing I would like to do is learn everything I can, read everything I can, eventually code and create my own tools and share with the community. I find pointless defacements and things like that distasteful and a waste of "potential" skill.

- Which features appeal to you.

I'm obviously immediately attracted to the fact that no logs are kept. This is an important feature for any VPN service to provide that intend on serving an audience of those who do what we do.

The fact that encryption seems to be a high priority is also important to me. Just goes to show the quality of the VPN! Awesome.

No limitations??? Sounds fantastic ;)

I suppose a US server will serve me well enough :O

Good luck to everyone entering. Much love to all of you.

Sheldon Lee Cooper - August 19, 2012, 10:20 am

- Why you can't afford it yourself - I don't have any money to invest on anything to actually get a method that works. I don't have time to spend on methods to make money since I'm busy with Infosec works.

- Why you need a secure VPN -I hack a lot. I need it whenever I need to work with websites, and obviously to hack them. I don't yet have a good Paid VPN and this is the perfect offer. I would use this VPN to test out various stuffs on my network and it would be extremely helpful for my work and studies.

- Why you think you deserve it - Since I really need it and I have a very solid reason to get it. I don't have the money to afford it and this is my only chance to get one.

- Which features appeal to you - It has an American IP which is needed in most cases for various needs and it is completely logless. We don't get ANY VPN's for lifetime at a mere $5 and it's just EPIC.

I'd like to have a chance to win a copy of this VPN please.

Currently, I am working 2 weeks in on my first job but regardless i am not old enough to have credit card nor do my family allow me to have one or use on of theirs otherwise i would of purchased a copy of your VPN straight up. I am still looking for a decent free VPN to use for personal and recreational uses but none are yet to meet my requirements, i know that makes me sound fussy but free stuff are rarely good quality.

I have given back to the community the best i can by doing giveaways; 6 in total and generally trying help out when members seek it, i am hoping with the small chance i have of winning i may be able to try out this VPN and hopefully use it to the best of its capabilities, i have already looked at your original thread and vouch's and definitely got posting the second i saw a chance of owning a copy of your VPN.

Thanks for letting me and the rest of the community have a chance of owning a copy of your VPN and good luck to the rest of those who have entered. ?

I would like this VPN so I can do legal things over the internet. I can afford this, but it's easier for me to post this message then it is to login to my paypal. I like the contest you are doing, and you seem a like a cool member. I hope I am chosen, so that I can go on 4chan, thieves.co, and hackforums at school, as they block pretty much everything except google. i am in extreme need of a VPN like yours.

Why i need the vpn is, i am staying in a hostel, my hostel admin blocked many sites including hf, because of that i am using free VPN. but whats the problem is those free VPN works for few days and stops working adequately. It made me hunt for free VPN's online every 2-3 days.

On seeing your VPN, i am very much impressed, and the license being lifetime it will stop my search for any other VPN's.

And finally thank you for providing HF members this wonderful giveaway.

First of all, I'd like to thank you for the contest, even if I don't win.

A few days ago, my PayPal got chargebacked about $60 when I was about to purchase this from you - I had just purchased some items for my girlfriend and had a $8 balance. Needless to say, I definitely do not have a positive PayPal balance now.

I really need a lifetime, no-log, fast VPN, and from what I've seen, Enigma VPN can DEFINITELY help me with this. As a high school student, all of my funds go to my PayPal, and, that's obviously not an option to use anytime soon, especially for a premium VPN that charges monthly. I really don't want to stop, as you said, those "Special online activities";).

If by chance, I DO win, I would like a US server.

Thanks again man.

Dr. Michio Kaku™ - August 21, 2012, 6:53 am

Well i have no money at the moment and i have to go with some sick free VPN's. Even while using those VPN's i could never feel the sense of privacy as i don't know if they keep logs or not. Also these being free they provide slow speed pushing me so that i buy premium. I really need a VPN for a lot of things i do online and i am looking for a quick way to make some money so i can buy one but i have not been successful yet. I Need you VPN as it does not save logs and also data is passed through 2 tunnels which i believe will make it anonymous online.

I am seriously low on online money atm.

Thank you.

Le?f - August 21, 2012, 8:07 am

I'd like to have this VPN as I'm saving money for university and currently cannot buy anything related to the internet whatsoever, due to the fact I am on a strict saving regime which involves me saving up as much money as possible, as paying back a student loan quickly results in a good credit score. Also, I would rather be independent of myself than living off of government money (taxpayers). I would need it secure as the university which I will be attending has a lot of security and block popular websites such as YouTube, HackForums etc. In addition to this I would need this to be highly encrypted so that I can continue my hacking activities without worrying about interference with the university etc, and I know a Secure VPN will work as I know multiple people who already use one in that university.

I haven't posted much to HackForums yet, but as soon as I can get university sorted and a good amount of cash with nice living arrangements, I will start to do little contests and giveaways, and I will eventually get back into coding to develop some nice tools. So currently, I have nothing to show for why I deserve this. I just hope you will at least consider it, as this would be a great help. The main features that appeal to me are the "No Logs," Highly encrypted data packets and the fact it's ideal for hiding "special" online activities, considering I need to be almost completely untraceable. I think getting this VPN would help me out a lot and allow me to continue illicit activities and continue to browse my favourite sites easily. The ideal server location for me would be something like the United Kingdom or the United States. Thank you for this amazing giveaway and I hope I win.

Hello,

I would like to begin by thanking you for the generous offer. My biggest issue with affording a VPN is that I do not have a bank account, and I am in debt from student loans. I am also unemployed, but do pick up side jobs like roofing and temp jobs when available. I plan to become comptia a+ certified to become a computer technician, ideally, so I have been dedicating time to preparing for the exam. I am trying to get a VPN to increase my hacking skills without the threat of government entities subjugating my freedom. I would also like to perhaps reverse the trend of the regulation over the internet that we have seen for the past decade and hopefully create mass social change for the generations to come. I wouldn't mind making some cash either. ^^ The features from this VPN that appeal to me are the encryption, lack of logging, different server locations and the lack of an expiration date. I have also read a good review of enigma on this forum. If I had to choose a server location, it would be in the US. Thank you and this is sick what you are doing.
