You can always purchase some YouTube bot on the marketplace here on HF if you want to make things faster, but honestly, it would feel better/be more legit if you just got the same amount of subscribers back. No one here that I know of would do this just for your gain, unfortunately. You would have to offer something in return.

Get an account maker, there's a few free ones on the forum. Make a ton of accounts.

Get a bot, link all the accounts to your bot and subscribe to your channel.
