Thread: [Scammed \$68 | \[UID= 559302\] | Proof](#)

ASDA - August 27, 2012, 7:19 am

So 559302 PMed me for a booter source, I quoted him $200 for everything in the PM, he looked over it on TeamViewer and said he didn't want anything else, and to just sent it to him.

Proof of quote: (I said $220, but it ended up being $200)

Proof of me sending files:

We decided on him paying the first $50 for my trust, then the second $50 when he decides it's fine at the halfway point, and then $100 at the end when it's all fine and he's checked it over.

Second payment:

Proof of the source done with everything in the PM + extras...

He then goes off on one because I didn't set up his Cron Job for him (bear in mind he only hired me to do PHP).

He also changes his mind a lot:

He then tries his luck - with a bit of blackmail:

Proof he charged back; all three are him:

He also said that he bought a hard drive from me... I rang up PayPal, and he's got to email them where he bought the hard drive from and proof it's me :P

This is a lie I, I asked for things to be done which he said he had done and he would do then when I ask him is it done he says no and that he's no charging me to do it. I also said I would cancel the dispute if he would code what he promised.

Vypor - August 28, 2012, 10:52 am

This seems like a legit report. Steven boy was going to get a soruce coded buy another user before this. but the user declined because of in fragments like this.

You minus repped me and you had nothing to do with this deal, Boris told me he would do something so I want it done. I would close this if he just did it for me.

I'm ignoring you, I can't be bothered with you ripping me off, you just really want me to get this thread deleted don't you? Since you opened the dispute and risked my personal PayPal account getting limited, I released your 'source' as an open-source project.

WTF ASDA, I don't give a shit about this topic I want this source done. Please stop acting so immature about this. Releasing my source would mean that you scammed me out of $200.

Fossil - September 6, 2012, 3:35 am

I hate scammers as much as you do.

Lucky he didn't scam you $69 though..

?ire - September 14, 2012, 3:08 pm

I paid $200 for this and he just gave it out for free.

Only person who has your source is Vypor, and he hasn't gave it out. I put it on his server for testing.

Prove that that's the source please, that could easily be faked, I don't know anyone called Justin.

edit, I also haven't been on Skype for about 3 weeks.

edit, I also haven't been on Skype for about 3 weeks.It's not fake, it has everything in it, get on Skype now to resolve this, It also was Vypor who gave it out therefore it's your fault for giving him it, I'd happily pay you to fix things for me if you would just reply Also nothing on the source is now working when I add a package to the user it doesn't work.

I didn't give it to him, I put it on his server so I could test it.

Well he got it, there's also a lot of things not working with the source like for example the auto buy, admin panel , skype api adder all this which I had to pay more to fix!

Like I said in the PM, I'm not the best working with PayPal's Instant Payment Notification

Application Programming Interface. LR IPN works though. Skype Resolver does work, I tested it using Vypor's, but it gave me an IP Blocked-type response. The Administration Panel does work.

On another note; 'Justin' added me today on Skype and told me he wanted me to finish a source, one you gave him and linked me to <http://securitystresser.com/> - don't go around saying I leaked your source please.

Dude, the admin pannel has errors in every section, of you're willing to fix it I'll close the disput. Justin told me when we were on Skype chat it was vypor!

I talked to boris on Skype, he left this source a mess it isn't even fully working, currently I have no way for users to send attacks as te only veiwable page is the purchase page! He also doesn't even want to try and fix it.

?ire - September 26, 2012, 3:56 pm

This has been resolved, I closed the dispute and he got his money back. He did admit to not finishing the code but awel! Hopefully he'll close this
