

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Make userbars clickable

Invisus - August 30, 2012, 9:59 am

Make userbars clickable so they direct you to the groups subforum.

E.G. Illuminati userbar would take you to the illuminati forum, Ub3r userbar would take you to the Ub3r section etc.

Pulsefire Ezreal - August 30, 2012, 10:00 am

This sounds like a good idea, although it would be nice if they were configureable on a per-person basis - although it'd have to be a HF link, if that makes sense?

+Awesome - August 30, 2012, 10:00 am

I don't see a point denying this after all others those don't have permissions can't simply access it.

I like the suggestion. ?

Airon - August 30, 2012, 10:01 am

That's actually a good idea, but it's also not really hard to click the HF banner and go to that section.

Belligerent - August 30, 2012, 10:01 am

What's the point? Just for yourself?

Other members can't access it so it'd only be for your personal preference.

Invisus - August 30, 2012, 10:05 am

(Aug 30, 2012 10:01 AM)Peoples Champ Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What's the point? Just for yourself?

Other members can't access it so it'd only be for your personal preference.

Surely there could be an alternate for people not in the group.

Like a redirect to the groups thread in the group section/ the request group membership page.

Either way, its a nice addition for those in a group to quickly allow them to go to their subforum.

Osuka - August 30, 2012, 10:06 am i agree with the rest, whats the point if only the people in it would be able to view them? o.O

Mr Kewl - August 30, 2012, 10:07 am

This has been suggested earlier, xerotic made a userscript for this anyway.

Omniscient - August 30, 2012, 3:55 pm

We need less links on pages not more. For SEO purposes I try to limit links on showthread. That's why things like the awards don't link to anything.