Thread: Mentor for smudging

SoLilyKweez - August 30, 2012, 10:12 pm

I'm posting here today because I really want to improve my smudging technique and be able too create much more in-depth, beautiful pieces of art using it. I'm in need of a mentor that is comfortable with Skype chatting with me and possibly using Teamviewer and helping me touch up on my smudging technique and introduce me to new things and give me tips and tricks, I also apologize ahead of time if this thread is out of place, it seems like the only place I should put this.

Thanks for reading,

Ethereal.

I don't think anyone is going to teach you for the sake of helping.

Just learn on your own like everyone else, check out the links Sasori posted.

I've tried time and time again to work off of that tutorial by Pochy and Anubis, but I can never get it to work out. I always end up messing it up and/ or making it look like total shit after adding the second color. As for the Youtube link, I'll have to check that out..
