

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Am I infected?

Jiffy - September 2, 2012, 5:11 pm

Lately, my internet has been taking FOREVER to load any video that needs buffering (so basically all of them) and my internet is also saying it can't display the webpage when I go to a website but then when I click on try again it brings it right up. Also the search function under start always pops up like 50 times for no reason when I'm just browsing the web. I'm on windows 7 using mozilla firefox and ive tryed switching to google chrome and it makes it even worse. Can someone please help me!? Pm me and we can skype or TV. Thanks in advance!

cunning - September 2, 2012, 5:15 pm

I've noticed using 1 browser for along time makes it slow :/
I switch around between; Opera, Rockmelt, googlechrome and mozilla firefox.
Try restarting your router everyday.
Also check your antivirus.

Jiffy - September 2, 2012, 5:16 pm

I forgot to mention, I scan my computer is safe mode daily and it never finds anything. Also I don't have a router :/

Knight 2672 - September 2, 2012, 5:18 pm

Jiffy I can check for you over teamviewer easily if you would like me to.

Or you can check your processes, and look for anything suspicious

cunning - September 2, 2012, 5:19 pm

(Sep 2, 2012 05:16 PM)Jiffy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I forgot to mention, I scan my computer is safe mode daily and it never finds anything. Also I don't have a router :/I mean like if your antivirus is causing your computer to analyze the page.

LinkScanner makes things lag for me :d
I would suggest downloading MalwareBytes Anti-Malware, run it, helped me ALOT when I got RATED.
Hope you aren't infected bud ;)

BelmontKS - September 2, 2012, 5:21 pm

I could check for you if your interested just shoot me a PM

Truth - September 2, 2012, 5:38 pm

Clear your cache and cookies. If it still continues then try to reinstall your browser.

Jiffy - September 2, 2012, 7:06 pm

I've cleared my cache and cookies, reinstalled the browser and everything. I've even ran cc cleaner, defragged my disc, and did a sstem restore. I just want my videos to buffer at a decent speed, they take FOREVER to buffer. I can literally pause it go shower and came back n it will wont be done for a simple music video.

Retribute - September 2, 2012, 7:14 pm

Does this happen on YouTube as well?

Jiffy - September 2, 2012, 7:26 pm

Yes, its mainly youtube. Like it's so annoying not being able to watch the videos on there.

TacoBellFool78 - September 2, 2012, 8:06 pm

Hmm have you considered that you are being ddosed? Or are you using a vpn or proxy because they could be very slow.

Jiffy - September 2, 2012, 8:31 pm

Im not being ddosed because it opens right back up, and nope not using a VPN or proxy,

Retribute - September 2, 2012, 8:38 pm

Is it only videos that are slow? Does it take a while to load webpages as well?

Jiffy - September 2, 2012, 8:40 pm

Webpages usually say "cannot display webpage at this time" and then once i refresh it, it loads right up. But occasionally when i reload it, it comes up in some funky format. Idk what its called. But where everything is just on the left of the screen in basically a list.

Retribute - September 2, 2012, 9:00 pm

What do you mean in the OP when you say:

Quote:Also the search function under start always pops up like 50 times for no reason when I'm just browsing the web

Jiffy - September 2, 2012, 9:11 pm

Like when you click start, its kinda like opening up m computer, but instead its a window for searching that comes up like 50times. It does it at random I could just be watching a movie and it pops up.

Retribute - September 2, 2012, 9:15 pm

Okay. Then I think it'll be better to direct you to the HJT section.

Please navigate to the HJT section here and post a new thread with the instructions as stated here.

Jiffy - September 2, 2012, 9:18 pm

But the thing is, its only done that like twice and thats when my keyboard was messing up, I just bought a new wireless keyboard and it messes up alot someone. Idk if that has any relation or not. Im mainly worried about the internet thing. Should I still go post there?

Retribute - September 2, 2012, 9:21 pm

(Sep 2, 2012 09:18 PM)Jiffy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) But the thing is, its only done that like twice and thats when my keyboard was messing up, I just bought a new wireless keyboard and it messes up alot someone. Idk if that has any relation or not. Im mainly worried about the internet thing. Should I still go post there?

Yeah, you should still post there. They're experts at diagnosing and tackling malware, so they're always a choice to turn to ?