Thread: My Work Over The Past Week

Mastery - September 2, 2012, 6:53 pm

Thread is very old

I have decided I should show my work.

Let me start off by saying for the past week or so,

I have been doing GFX. I wouldn't say I am a master or a pro.

But I like the work I do, and most members are happy with it.

Please tell me what you think and here is the GFX! Please note, not all members used what I gave them.

I have made many more, some have been deleted.

Please I hope you enjoyed looking at some of my work,

Some I agree, some are not great, but there are some nice ones.

I just started doing GFX again.. After a few months, that is why some are not the best!

Have a great day!

Your friend,

You will go through a phase where you hate everything you do and think it sucks, and if you make it through that phase you are good in my book.

But you haven't arrived there yet.

I really like your work

How long have you been doing this?

But you haven't arrived there yet. God my work was awful and this ^^ was the best advice I've every received for graphic designing.

Here's a tip: take more time when doing your work. You'll spot mistakes and make tons of revisions as you work.

I happened to see this thread on the first page. I've yet to see more of your recent work, and plus, I was just giving you a bit of advice that has helped me, since I used to rush everything. Please don't take any offence to that man.

They're all pretty good. I like the style of the Demi Lovato signature, it's very aesthetically pleasing.

Some of them are really nice!

But then some are just eh.. Too much for my eyes.
