Thread: Become A Malware Expert || Learn Malware Analysis || Fight Any Kinds Of Malware

Sheldon Lee Cooper - September 4, 2012, 1:46 am

Have you ever considered learning malware analysis and becoming a pro who can remove almost any malwares efficiently yourselves ? Well below I will post a list of places or classrooms where you can apply and start learning how to fight malware. So you can choose from any of these schools below and become a pro yourselves. The list is not in any specific order and the decision is entirely yours to make. All the schools are good and it does not really matter which one you choose as long as you are dedicated to work hard. Keep in mind that this is not something you will achieve or complete as a pass time. You need to take it seriously and spend a good amount of your time on this. This will help you so good that you could earn yourselves a job.

All the classrooms except the last one are separate websites not related to HackForums and each one of them are really good. Please keep in mind that this is not a quick process. You need to have a little knowledge in advance in most cases and this involves lots of reading and research. In most cases, you need lots of patience and dedication. It may take a bit of time to complete the entire class and it is self paced. There is no hurry to advance and all these schools gives you free enrollment.

Usually it takes around 5-6 months to complete your course in any one of the classes. And It's advised not to be a part of more than one site at one time since it will cause lots of problems and you won't be able to concentrate on one of them. You need lots of dedication and by the end of the course, you should be able to solve any malware related problem on your computer by yourself and hopefully troubleshoot anyone else having troubles effectively. I am in no way connected to any of these websites or the classes they provide. You are completely on your own when you apply for enrollment on any of these websites. I am just providing these websites to help you understand how you could learn to fight malwares in a professional manner and I will be happy to provide with any help you might need and answer any questions regarding this topic. I wish you all good luck.

Sheldon Lee Cooper

Thank you , HJT is good. But I would recommend going for the other links out there since the support you get is massive and they concentrate on this one topic which makes them all really good.

You would get good overall support too. I do not mean any offense to HJT, its just my opinion. Whatever be your decision, good luck.
