You all know that girl who you would do anything for? The one who texts you and you think she's just awesome? For some guys that might be their girlfriends. But for me its my best friend. I love her to death and she doesn't even notice. She says "you're to good for me." when I tell her I would do anything for her. She's scared, and so am I. I feel like I'm not all here, like part of me just doesn't want to care. God, i could use a hug...
