I just had a look at your website and you have very good taste in strains. Don't see any pure females there though unless I'm being blind. Good luck with your nice business mate:)

Good luck with your nice business mate:)Thank u for your complement the strains are pretty old i get them from the a seedshop in Amsterdam that works with seeds over 50 years

I'm just a really lucky guy...If worked for the seedshop in Amsterdam i few years back and i got a private collection of seeds there are more then 15years old that means i got seeds that are close to the first gen

And some never crossed like (citral) also a old strain

And indeed there are only Regs but still get 7/10 female

And i'm working on feminized seeds as we speak but cost some time (and more money for the customer that why i began with male and female seeds...??

Yeah, well that sounds really interesting, some of the older strains like Mr. Herrer are extremely good stock. Enjoy the re-gen/splicing process, it's all good fun:D I am envious! I simply don't have the space for cloning etc. Anyway, this is your thread so sorry to go off topic. Just want to wish you all the best ?
