Thread: HF News - Notification?

????s? - September 16, 2012, 10:56 am

How about a HF News Notification Bar?

When a new edition is posted, every member is notified just as they would be notified when they get a PM with the green bar at the top of the forum.

When you click on it, it goes away just as the PM bar does.

Seems like it would be a nice little feature just to give us a heads up on new editions.

Beats checking non-stop on Saturdays and Sundays to see if there is a new edition up.

Odin the Wanderer - September 16, 2012, 10:57 am

This would be pretty helpful. I like the idea.

Wolves - September 16, 2012, 10:58 am

Is it really that important to see the news the moment it comes out? ?

wezli - September 16, 2012, 10:58 am

It would be nice, but I think users should be able to disable it.

Doesn't even really have to be the "moment" it comes out.

Most members wont even be online when it's finally posted.

It just stops us from having to check time and time again on the weekend to see if a new edition has came out.

redpois0n - September 16, 2012, 11:03 am

Yeah smart! Would get the news fuckloads of more posts and views!

hugsyou - September 16, 2012, 11:04 am

I don't even check the news. Maybe a option to be included in the PM would be needed.

I always wanted to post before 5 pages are filled already. :) And almost every time I come on HF, I check News section for new editions(although I know they come out in 1 week intervals)

I suggest this not for people to get on the first page, or first five pages, but just so we know when there's a new edition rather than checking throughout the weekend only to be disappointed when we don't see a new edition. I actually enjoy reading the HF News.

Sometimes, I just read and don't post.

Of course it's not that hard, but it gets annoying checking the News section a million times a weekend only to see that the next edition has not came out yet.

Why not add something that would benefit most users? It's a simple feature that most users in this thread actually like/want. No, it's not a life or death situation, but neither are many of "simple" changes to the site. Just something to make the forum better for all or most members.

It wont take much resources, it won't hurt anyone.

Douchebag # 145 - September 16, 2012, 9:05 pm

One clear advantage I see for this is the news team will honestly be urged even further to get the news out on time... hopefully.

Adolf Hitler? - September 16, 2012, 10:13 pm

The only problem is the HF news team needs to get there shit together.

Get new people. It don't take more than a few days to finish the whole thing and prepare it for Saturday afternoon release.

The delays are ridiculous.

Well, from what I thought, it's supposed to be posted every Saturday.

But of course, the writers have lives as well and it can be a bit delayed as it was this weekend and last weekend.

So, you never really know when a new edition is coming out exactly.

The thing with the userscript, is not every member will download it, not everyone will know about it, which is why I'd like Omni to make a plugin/add-on for it.

zaices - September 17, 2012, 12:06 am

I agree with this.

Maybe not a notification, but something less obvious. Maybe just a small text on the top right hand corner of the index.

It would be a one time thing.

When the news come out, it notifies all users, when you click it, it goes away. After a certain amount of days without being clicked, it goes off the page automatically.

I've recently started reading it and it's pretty enjoyable to read, and I'm sure others will enjoy it too.

For those who don't want it, maybe have an option where it can be enabled/disabled, even though it is only once a week.

Hope this gets implemented soon!

The problem is, not everyone uses twitter, nor do they even know about the HF News itself. Getting followers would be difficult, and it would essentially be useless, as only the current readers would know about it.

Yeah, Twitter would help, but still would not reach out to all members of the Forum.

A simple notification implemented, (Like PMs) will do just fine and will make all members aware of HF news, and when it's posted.

Also, even with there not being a way to turn the notification off, a simple click of an "x" on the notification will take it off the screen right away. Doing that once a week shouldn't annoy anyone.

Most updates on this forum are just to make it a better forum altogether. The updates aren't because the forum REALLY needs them, but just to add something new for the members that keep this forum alive.

What's wrong with a new feature for the people that read the HF news, for the members that actually put time and effort into the paper every week, for the members that have no idea the HF News even exists?

Some of you think something only needs to be added if it's desperately needed, why not add something to actually benefit members and not just the forum as a whole?

Agreed with this as well.

I don't see why he compared the HF News with the regular boring morning news, with no good gfx lol.

justlurking - September 20, 2012, 9:38 am

I love reading HF news 100% support with this idea good luck op :)

Invisus - September 20, 2012, 9:54 am

I don't think this should be added, not everyone care to read the HF news as it doesn't have any relevance to them.

Phytrix - September 21, 2012, 10:54 pm

Look at post #85 and #86 on the most recent edition.

Quote:I'm new here, so I've never seen any of these, but I just wanted to stop by and say that these look wonderful!

They've made a lot of process since the first edition, and I admire Sir & the team's hard work and dedication!

Great edition, I'm looking forward to the next ones. :)

Quote:It's the first time I noticed this was here.

Guys ... honestly?! It looks fucking great.

The idea about this ezine/news kind of thing is really a good idea and I was really amazed!

Keep up with the good work.

Sounds like a great idea, I always miss the news and it takes me a few days to find out its been published.

Cyber-Security - September 22, 2012, 5:15 am

I would love this, you have my support.

BaussHacker - September 22, 2012, 5:26 am

I would hate it, because I'll be all excited that I have got a PM and then it's just news :P

He does not says that you get a pm on every news posted. He's talking about a notification.

I know lol, what I meant is that I'll think I've got a PM and then it's just a thread which I rarely read.

Mordec?i - September 22, 2012, 9:56 am

This would be great, love the idea mate.

I made a userscript for you guys: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=2883924> which alerts you if there is a new news topic!

Well I don't think we need a huge announcement over it.

Why doesn't someone create a script?

That's a good sign.

So, I don't see why not.

agree with that. but not PMs! Regular members don't have 1billion PM space like upgraded members -.-

I don't think OP was suggesting a PM. I think he meant like a notification, just like when you get a new PM (green bar thing), although doesn't appear in your PM box.

Profit Network - September 23, 2012, 3:58 am

There is a user script for this, for other members who, like me, don't read the news it would be pointless.

GoldenPhe0nix - September 23, 2012, 4:05 am

This is definately a great idea, or it could be delievered via pm

Leg?nd - September 23, 2012, 4:06 am

Thread should be closed otherwise people will just continue to post good idea when there is a userscript for it already out..

Oak - September 23, 2012, 8:57 pm

The main point isn't the userscript, it's also the first week of mass announcement, giving the HF News notice to many of the members who are unaware of its presence.

630 - September 23, 2012, 11:52 pm

Would be nice, but the news is posted within the same 24 hrs every week.

"Rainy. - September 24, 2012, 12:36 am

I don't really find this necessary. But this would increase the number of posts on news threads.

90% this will be closed by a mentor/staff, not by Omni, because it's just gone on for too long and the same circle arguments are being presented both ways.

I don't believe they will because there is no valid reason to close it.
The only person who will be deciding this one is Omni.

Lol? I see mentors /thread big topics all the time. Omni re-opens them to make a final comment if he wants, then re-closes it.

Hydra - September 24, 2012, 6:31 pm

It would be similar to a PM System, but I doubt it would be created because it would take up a high amount of resources unless if it can be narrowed down to check on a Sunday/Monday, and "turn off" on the rest of the days.

He doesn't re-open or close, he can comment on closed threads.

cunning - September 24, 2012, 6:32 pm

maybe have them 'subscribe to you, get a list of usernames, have 1 person send them all links to the new edition and a small summary of what its about.

Just C+P it to all the 'subscribed' members.

Hydra - September 24, 2012, 6:32 pm

Might as well create a plugin tho, similar to like the Scammer DB Plugin.
