Thread: Make the Request for Hacking Section L33t/Ub3r or Close it.

Analog- - September 19, 2012, 3:26 pm

<https://hackforums.net/forumdisplay.php?fid=48>

If you look at the section right now, it's a bunch of brand new members begging for someone to DDoS a website because the admin banned them or some other skiddish thing like that.

Then the replies are people raising their post count by saying "we are not your personal army you gotta be HQ before you get anything etc..."

I think to fix it Omni should make it L33t or higher, or just close the section.
It's in a sad state right now.

Rage™ - September 19, 2012, 3:28 pm

I agree with this. Although, I think l33ts or Ub3rs would post in the VIP area. But good idea.

Nonon Jakuzure - September 19, 2012, 5:12 pm

Wipe the section, and make it exclusive to upgraded members.
Filter the phrase, "we are not your personal army".

I agree even though I hardly visit.

Premortal - September 19, 2012, 5:13 pm

I think that section may be the main reason some people sign up for HF -_-

Precisely this. It's where I posted my very first post / thread.

This idea has been proposed in the past and it was rejected.

Precisely why it should be L33t and higher. Would keep the members to stay and dedicate themselves to the site.

(Sep 19, 2012 05:19 PM)Sam Fisher Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This idea has been proposed in the past and it was rejected.

I searched this section, and only got these two threads.

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=2223689&highlight=request+for+hacking>

So I stand by my suggestion.

Maghbool - September 19, 2012, 5:33 pm

There are a lot of old regular members here who don't have a PayPal account. Plus a lot of there freedom have been taken away already, I remember a year ago when regulars could of had avatars, signatures with images, post in any section except VIP, and other things Omni took away.

It's as though you're giving them no choice but to get l33t some way.

• R • - September 19, 2012, 5:35 pm

Correct me if I'm wrong but: Hasn't Omni said he won't make anymore restrictions based on a persons account?

PackTheMoon - September 19, 2012, 7:41 pm

8. Member Restrictions. HF will not be taking suggestions for new restrictions on the site based on post count, registration date, or reputation.

Chelsea Monday - September 19, 2012, 7:44 pm

I understand where you are coming from, but the easiest way not to get pissed off by the relentless begging in that thread is simply to avoid it.

And, I am sure there must be some people who do start their Hf careers there and eventually educate themselves and become contributors to the forum.

This isn't about post count, registration, or reputation though. It's about l33t/ub3r status.

If I wasn't able to post a thread after spending 5 minutes signing up to a forum because I didn't pay $19, I would have left and never come back. Without a doubt it's probably the section that gets most of HF's newcomer traffic, the entirety of which would be classified as non-upgraded members.

'An0ny - September 20, 2012, 2:48 am

How would making L33t help? They could simply buy l33t same day as they joined? Lol..

Rather require 500-300 post to post a reply or thread in that section. as we can't <-- omni's rules lol

The Fro - September 20, 2012, 2:49 am

Additionally, why not just report posts as 'Low Quality' that seem like copy and paste messages?

'Cody - September 20, 2012, 4:45 am

Holy fuck. Look at this...

Oh my god that thread is killing me. I say this section needs to be upgrade only because of that. To all the people that say they would just leave, they are probably going to leave after they get flamed for joining that day and not getting the help they want anyway.

Damn shit man.

The whole page is filled with people asking to hack FB and giving their contact mail-id.?

I think it's a nice suggestion tbh.

adampelletgun - September 20, 2012, 4:54 am

I would love to see this.

That section is full of garbage.

Analog- - September 20, 2012, 9:53 am

I'm glad to see the majority of you agree.

Tripp. - September 21, 2012, 1:34 pm

i agree with this, either make it l33t+ or some sort of requirement, so people can't just sign up and go right into posting there

Positive - September 21, 2012, 5:05 pm

Good section to report-whore in.... then the section would get cleaned up.

So you're saying it's better to let hell break loose and be cleaning up their mess by reporting rather than preventing hell to break loose?

Less work for everyone.

Ne?ro? - September 21, 2012, 6:53 pm

Well, I highly doubt Omni will restrict new members all-in-all. Although, I do support this suggestion.

Maybe you should reword it: Ban the asking for DDoSing Sites/Home Connections?

Uehm - September 21, 2012, 7:13 pm

I support this idea. That thread that Curt posted...my god.

Going back to what Nero said, though, maybe ban said person for a few days if they ask to DDoS a site?

BaussHacker - September 23, 2012, 4:51 am

That was how the introduction forum was before LOL. I remember when people came like "Hi my name is XXX can you hack my GF's facebook?"

Unit 69 - September 23, 2012, 7:19 am

I absolutely disagree with this.

I have never posted a thread in this section , but I do occasionally see non-upgraded members post a site that does have a genuine reason to be taken down.. Like someone psoted an extremely racist site there once , if only L33T's and Ub3rs could post there then no-one would have ever attempted to hack it , and it wouldn't be down now..

Also , it is true that most users join the site for that section.. If they couldn't post there they would just immediately leave which would slowly shrink HF's community. Being able to post there and ask for help , encourages them to meanwhile look around the site and get involved.

Marcus Aurelius - September 23, 2012, 8:31 am

I think that we should just leave the section and not care about it, nothing is gonna get accomplished in that section, just let them spam and what-not, it is better to have all the garbage centered in one spot that all over the forum.

BaussHacker - September 23, 2012, 8:45 am

But a few other sections are restricted.

GDK Rum - September 23, 2012, 9:59 am

It's sections like this, and the Beginner Hacking forum(which is full of "Please, how do I port forward", and "Help me hack my friends facebook"), that reel in new members.

When a new member joins, he has nothing to post about. That's not to say he doesn't have any good Ideas, but he is unsure about the waters ahead of him.

No one's first post was HQ, I'm pretty sure my first post was reported and deleted, and you know where that post was made? Beginner Hacking forum, I was most likely asking something dumb like how to DDoS with MSPaint or something.

I consider myself somewhat HQ, and I owe that to my first post. After I saw how badly my LQ post was ignored, I decided to comeback with a different mindset, and so far it's worked.

Plus, consider this, if these boards are removed, where will the new members post their crap?

The hacking board will be flooded with simple request, the coding boards would be flooded with MSDOS bach cascade 'viruses', the lounge would be flooded with dumb introductions and request. If their isn't a specific place for this chaos, it will spread over the entire forum.

You guys need to stop thinking that stamping L337 on everything makes it better.

If I'm not L337 it's because I can use those 19 bucks to feed my family, not because I'm not willing, or have nothing, to contribute to the community.

The Pact - September 28, 2012, 3:23 pm

I couldn't agree with everything coolmagicdude2 said. Also I think the false hope that that section gives is what makes this board a lot more popular than other hacker boards. lol So it would not be good for the popularity of the board to do that.

Viral Dragon - September 28, 2012, 3:46 pm

I used to clean up that section. But, one man can only do so much.

Perhaps I'll go back to cleaning the requests section up. Though I do agree. Either close it, or give it better moderation than what it has.

You only see the same garbage posted in there.

-Viral.

Temper ? - September 28, 2012, 3:55 pm

That's not very fair, because some regs are good hackers and such, but can't get l33t/ub3r.

Elegant - September 28, 2012, 7:03 pm

100% agreed also bunch of normals trying to get facebook accounts hacked as well.

TechApp - September 29, 2012, 1:09 pm

I agree with this it is nothing but a whole bunch of kids wanting you to do something for them. A lot of members first posts end up there. They see the name "HackForums" and think that if they join the forum they can automatically hack. Making it L33T/UB3R would increase the quality of that section a lot more.

Lady Deathstroke - September 29, 2012, 1:10 pm

I agree with this, I haven't been in the section in a while but I can definitely see now looking how bad this has gotten.

You have my agreement to this.

Leg?nd - September 29, 2012, 1:12 pm

Or maybe it can be one of the first prestige limited sections?

Expectation - September 29, 2012, 8:49 pm

I fully agree with this suggestion! Best useful suggestion Ive seen yet! I am tired of them skids.

bugga - September 29, 2012, 9:18 pm

Honestly I dont think it would make much difference, you see these posts in all the sections already and new members not being able to post there it will just cause them to spread those posts more in other sections. With that section available to them it keeps a majority of it in one place rather than spread all over the forum.

Analog- - September 29, 2012, 10:10 pm

Hmmm, then perhaps what would be appropriate is a moderator of that section.

Omniscient - September 30, 2012, 6:01 pm

No change is gonna happen there.
