Thread: Don't buy Data Protector!!!! Owner \(n0\$f3ratu\$\) Bans customers for no valid reason

iyolo - September 24, 2012, 10:05 am n0$f3ratu$ who sold me his product a few weeks ago banned my license after I told him Data Protector Crypter kept getting detected by avira for me that was enough for him to throw the BAN HAMMER at me

<https://imgur.com/QAVz7&ybF1y&XA77l&iFku3#3>

LOL WTF ??

<https://imgur.com/QAVz7&ybF1y&XA77l&iFku3#0>

<https://imgur.com/QAVz7&ybF1y&XA77l&iFku3#1>

<https://imgur.com/QAVz7&ybF1y&XA77l&iFku3#2>

this is why you should not buy Data Protector

this guy threatens you like a dog after you bought his product and i asked him about a problem I have, he decides to ban my license

after that some of the people started rep fucking me without a reason

I was able to use the crypter for 3 weeks, even had Problems with the detection rate

HE CLAIMS it is and was FUD however it has been 1/35 for a WHILE

I friendly asked for an explanation and he bans me!?

Next time you buy a product, don't only watch for good quality that comes from the product but also from the seller.

he banned my license without any real reason he gave as reason I was not allowed to discuss problems about the crypter in the thread however NOT ANYWHERE you can find that not in the TOS

or an Read me File

Ofcourse he will change his thread after this,

but keeps using his almighty immature behaviour agaisnt people who spend 40 euro for his product, and get in return a ban without atleast a good reason.

so next time you decide to buy a paid crypter pay attention if the salesman is not some weirdo who has no idea how to respond normally to people, and behaves like an 13 year old autistic child.

his profile claims hes 32 so you sir can better follow some social training now since your crypter is finished

(if you own data protector I HIGHLY recommend you never ask something on his thread.) He bans people without any valid reasons

DEAL WITH CAUTION

just take a look at his thread in general how he threads his customers the worst thing even is he does not even care and when i tell him I can't prove it right now because I am at school he does not even care spyware - September 24, 2012, 10:10 am

Real high quality post no wonder you got banned.

op is infact a troll and video proof he is lying has been posted.

Says he is at school but manages to build his server then crypt it then scan it then sales bash the crypter thread all from school.... but cannot provide PROOF.

Cape - September 24, 2012, 5:22 pm

Its on TOS of every Crypter and Every Owner writes that if you are getting detection problems than pm him for support dont trash the sales thread and If you do than you will be banned.

northman - September 24, 2012, 8:42 pm

The tldr of this story is that a member posted in a sales thread something which he should have pm'd or instant messaged the seller about..

I also commented on your friends thread regarding this also, and you can read it in the following spoiler (I love to write ;-P);

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

(Sep 24, 2012 03:50 PM)oMiNouSWaNDeReR Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) DataProtector and n0$ crypter have always been two of the best options on the market, especially for the price.

DataProtector is always quickly updated when it's detected and the support is great. Honestly the only people I see complaining about it are the people that either don't have a clue and shouldn't be dealing with RAT's and crypters in the first place or have immaturity issues and don't know the first step of conflict resolution.

For the people that were banned and are threatening to scan on virustotal to make it become detected more- really that probably shows why you were banned in the first place. After speaking with n0$ fairly in depth he seems like the type of person that if you were respectful in the first place he would have returned the respect and worked with you to find a solution. Defamation is one of the worst ways to try and get anything accomplished and punishing other members that are happily using the crypter does absolutely nothing to rectify your own situation- it'd be like spitting in peoples food at a restaurant simply because you personally had a bad experience.

Not that my 2 cents mean anything but I still wanted to back up n0$f3ratu$ since he's been the best provider of a crypter that I've found so far.

Absolutely agree with this members post, it perfectly summed up my feelings on this matter.

Also as a recent customer of n0$ DataProtector, I have had nothing but good support from him when needed. When I first purchased it there were plenty of questions I asked him, by PM, and he responded promptly and in a friendly manner, never rude or threatening.

After a week or two of using the crypter, I had an issue where it said it was being detected. I checked and rechecked and then PM'd him;

Quote:northman Wrote:

Just to let you know, the DP built-in scanner says 6/35 and one of my clients Norton AV has detected my server too.

n0$3ratu$ Wrote:

Show me the scan link please.

For me is fud.

Maybe you used a detected icon or cloned with a detected assembly?

Crypt a file with no options scan it and let me know because what you are saying I think is impossible.

So I followed his instructions, crypted it with no added options (no icon change or assembly) and it turned out clean - it was due to my assembly or icon being detected, (maybe it was the same case with you and your friend?)...

Quote:Northmon Wrote:My apologies, it's as you suspected, either the icon or assembly info. New scan shows as 0/35.

Thank you, in future I will scan using this method before contacting you if any future possible detections arise.

And he replied with "no problem".

It was a simple case of the assembly info or icon being detected on my part, which I'm told can happen to any crypter, and was easily fixed using a different assembly info and icon.

As you can see this matter was easily resolved with no fuss, no threats and no childish behaviour, just one adult speaking to another, and I'm still a DataProtector customer.

I'd also like to add that the DataProtector sales thread, is a "Sales Thread" - meaning in my opinion what you post in that thread should be in regards to;

- (1) The purchasing of the item advertised.
- (2) Questions on the items functions/features before purchasing (if they have not been posted and answered, or shown on the OP or in the products guide/read me).
- (3) Thank you posts and vouches.

It's not a support thread, otherwise it would be titled "DataProtector Support Thread". That's just my opinion on the interpretation of a sales thread, I could be wrong...

So if you had any payment issues, bugs, possible detections, then it should have been sent to him in a personal message through HF or his instant messenger as indicated. He's already said that in the thread and also in the crypter itself.

It was proven to be FUD at the time that you said it wasn't by other users of DataProtector.

My only theory is that it was user error. I had a similar issue where my server said it 6/35 and I contacted the seller via PM, and notified him of my issue. He replied to me quickly and in a friendly way, instructing me to build another server again without any added options and it was soon discovered to be an icon or assembly info detection. My mistake and unrelated to the crypters workings, so I apologised and thanked him for his support.

What I didn't do was do what you did; wait till I was away from my computer to notify him (providing no proof or for him to verify it), and most importantly I didn't post in his sales thread that the product he is selling was detectable by AV's, which should have been in a PM.

For the few days that you said it was detectable, you should have waited until you was in front of your computer which had DataProtector and your scan-results/other proof and PM'd him.

If you had done that I am absolutely positively sure he would have been just as friendly and helpful to you as he was to me and I'm sure to others.

Many customers, possibly hundreds, are happy with their product, and it's only the ones who can't think before posting that seem to have an issue, (mostly those who are still in school).

You see in the end all this could have been easily solved, if you had just been patient and thought things through.

But like I am seeing as a common occurrence in HF these days, new members don't have any patience or think things through and just post away like their life depended on it.

So NosRatus can't be nice to people?, and ask nicely to remove or edit the post of the scan and ask nicely not to do it again?
