Wow... I just finished this 24 episode series... and it was great.

The only thing I did have beef with is the fact that they never showed either of them confessing any sort of love, although it was HEAVILY implied.

Overall a very satisfying series and ending though...

I can't decide if I like her better with silver hair, or blond.

But I do love silver-haired lolis....

Anywhoozle, what'd you think of the series?

I know that was the intentional end, and it's one of the first endings I've been satisfied with. Nothing NOT wrapped up...

Didn't you just so they never showed them confessing their love? So then everything is not wrapped up. ???

Also I have never watched this so don't spoil it for me!

I said it may contain spoilers... and that's just a general thing, I already said it was STRONGLY hinted, when I say strongly, I mean strongly.

at first i liked the comedic parts like where she laughs all "ho ho ho ho" but then things got a bit more serious about her mother how she was conceived and the ending one of the best ones i liked so far

none of that undecided on his love type deal

Gosick is definitely in my top 10. I recommend it to people a lot because it's not that popular, and it's very underrated imo.

SPOILERS

They clearly confessed their love. They got married, so you know....

I didn't say anything like "Marriage". All they did was change into like springtime and walk in a field or something like that, Kujo was never wearing a suit

SPOILERS

They got married. Victorique was wearing a wedding dress and had a bouquet. Everyone says they married. They married ?

I hated the ending. .-.

Too much time skippp.

But all in all, it's one of my faves along with Angel Beats. ;)

I hated Angel Beat's ending too. :/

IMHO, anime nowadays is it's either a great series with a crappy ending or a mediocre series and a great ending.
