Thread: Any ways to Test my JDB..?

The Almighty Internet - October 12, 2012, 6:56 pm

Whats a good way to test to see if my JDB works? i have tried it before numerous times but this time my JDB has a worm+my RAT so i don't want that shit to fuck up my comp and infect my friends...

use a slave or run the site through sand box

Best way is to open internet explorer in sandboxie and visit your site, then you won't be infected.

It's NOT 100% sure fired thing to work first of all.

What JDB are you using?

And what rat are you using because blackshades does NOT work in sandboxie or virtual machine or another computer on the same network.

If you have any other questions feel free to pm me?

Open up sandboxie and select the one you used and click terminate all programs and you are done.

Use a virtual machine or just go on craigslist and look for a cheap or free computer to test it on.

Just send me your link and ill give it a try :)

edit: oops didn't notice that there was a second page >_< lmao

Gpure - October 12, 2012, 7:57 pm

I usually just send it to Omniscient and he runs it for me.

Then I delete the infection.

Jokes.
