Thread: [\[REQUEST\] Separate Sub-Forum for Cryptography, Encryption, and Decryption!](#)

TheDubWubCub - October 14, 2012, 5:15 pm

Every time i visit the Cryptography, Encryption, and Decryption section, it's always about crypting or FUDing servers and what not.

I am not saying to get rid of it, but to at least give it it's own sub-forum or something just to separate between actual Cryptography, Encryption, and Decryption stuff and server, FUDing, crypting stuff.

I just think it would be better so that actual cryptography threads don't get lost in the massive amounts of FUDing, server and crypting threads.

Just a suggestion that is hopfully considered haha :D Thank You! :]

EDIT: I have barley noticed that there are 2 other threads concerning this issue & sadly they have been ignored :/ Hopefully the cryptography section will eventually be fixed!

There used to be a crypting services and request sub-forum, though they removed it.

but why? All the crypting related threads just flood that section now :/

Make a sub-section called Cryptors and ideas-crypting requests or something like that but without the sub forum that is the only reason why that section is active.

all in all Good idea ?

Thank you and yea i just would like it to be easier to read through actual cryptography threads than to narrow them down through a bunch of crypting related ones.

Hopefully that can happen! haha ?

Can this please be considered atleast? It is pretty annoying to sort through crypter related threads between cryptography ones. Thank you! :D

Each time I enter that section, I hope to see at least some real cryptography and code, but I don't. All I see is people talking about crypters. They could be called crids, crypt kiddies. They don't know how encryption works, yet they want an awesome FUD crypter to do all the work for them. I wonder why those programming the crypters, won't discuss the methods and/or code with each other, a real discussion regarding cryptography.

yea! I really think it should be sorted out! All the crypter related threads need to have their own subsection so we can have easy access between crypter stuff & actual cryptography! How can this be done though?
