

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Chronic Crypter - "Make sure to run as admin"

Markusse - October 21, 2012, 9:52 am

Well, trying to get this crypter working, but no matter how I run it, it says "Make sure to run as admin"...

Anyone familiar with this?

(Yes, I ran it as admin)

amus3d - October 21, 2012, 10:03 am

I have that crypter and it works fine for me.

Does the program say "make sure to run as admin" whenever you run it?

Try changing some of its settings, by right clicking > properties

Or contact Banksy. Helped me when I had a problem with it.

Markusse - October 21, 2012, 10:05 am

(Oct 21, 2012 10:03 AM)amus3d Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I have that crypter and it works fine for me.

Does the program say "make sure to run as admin" whenever you run it?

Try changing some of its settings, by right clicking > properties

Or contact Banksy. Helped me when I had a problem with it.

I contacted him, no response, and I really want to get it working, so I was hoping some people would know the solution. And I tried changing up the compability settings without luck. But yes, every time I run it.. :S

amus3d - October 21, 2012, 10:11 am

(Oct 21, 2012 10:05 AM)Markusse Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I contacted him, no response, and I really want to get it working, so I was hoping some people would know the solution. And I tried changing up the compability settings without luck. But yes, every time I run it.. :S

Download .net frameworks 3 and 4

That helped me before.

Markusse - October 21, 2012, 10:13 am

(Oct 21, 2012 10:11 AM)amus3d Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Download .net frameworks 3 and 4

That helped me before.

Already got them... Guess I'll wait for his reply, we're probably in different timezones or something.

FroFro - October 21, 2012, 10:44 am

I have this crypter, it works fine.

Re-Download all the .net framework files.

Markusse - October 21, 2012, 11:08 am

Fixed. It was the hosts file, it was "write only" or whatever it's called. Thanks anyway though!