Thread: Crypting Requests Sub-Section

Raspberry Pi - October 29, 2012, 10:54 am

Hey all,

Everytime I go into the Cryptography section, I always notice threads titled, "Fud Crypt Plz" or something of similar variation.

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=2968258>
<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=2976153>
<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=2972077>
<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=2978899> Just a few.

It would be kind of cool to have a "Crypting Requests" and/or "Crypting Services" sub-section(s) in the forums.

Anyone agree?

Zuse - October 29, 2012, 10:56 am

I think that's a great idea, but where would it go? Would it go under Cryptography, Encryption, and Decryption or Hacks, Exploits, and Various Discussions?

I would assume the Cryptography section. Perhaps both that lead to the same location. Sort of like the Freebies and Giveaways sub-sections being in two different places.

Know what I mean?

Yes I understand now, I think this is a great idea. Hopefully it will be added.

Natas - October 29, 2012, 11:16 am

I would like a crypting services section in the market place somewhere, I been looking for someone to crypt my server for LR for almost a day now.

Invisible - October 29, 2012, 11:25 am

This would be good in the market place section somewhere.

where.

Perhaps. They don't necessarily have to be paid for though.

Invisible - October 29, 2012, 12:16 pm

No, have it be free, but just under that section.

Apathy - October 29, 2012, 4:29 pm

I am in favour of this idea. Is there enough activity for its own forum though?

Publicity - October 29, 2012, 4:45 pm

I really like this idea, Although I was just thinking about what Apathy said. I feel there would be enough activity as it would be something similar to graphics. You could combine people offering crypting services along with just people looking for crypts.

Nice idea Raspberry Pi

Oh, this is what you meant. What are you talking about? Credit for what? Two people can share a common idea.

Swirl - October 29, 2012, 4:56 pm

Ok just wanted you to know that I posted this in the cryptography section a few days ago.

Yes, that would make sense actually. Very good point Apathy.

Robert Nesta Marley - October 30, 2012, 8:39 pm

This is a good idea, round about when I first joined I was spamming all over different sections for a Fud crypt so a sub-section would be real smart.

Revenge - October 31, 2012, 4:09 am

I support this idea and I could see how it could be annoying to have to look through tons of requests.

The only question is will they be active if they are split into sections?

Revenge - October 31, 2012, 5:16 am

(Oct 31, 2012 04:23 AM)Natha Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I agree, but it would be full of useless requests that would get ignored.

And I think it would encourage requests more then anything, which is what I personally don't like seeing.

You make a very valid point. It kinda does encourage requests.

But the only think about that is, people are already spamming the section with them so it's hard to find meaningful threads, don't you think so? ?

'Cody - October 31, 2012, 8:50 am

I support this, and it would be a good way for members to help each other.

Oguoda - November 1, 2012, 4:55 pm

As a newbie interested in cypting, I support this ^^ The more helpful the better

The eBook Geek - November 1, 2012, 4:56 pm

This sounds like a grand idea. I believe it should be implemented.

Best of luck.

Rod Serling - November 1, 2012, 4:58 pm

I kind of believe this should be implented,

Too many requests

This should go in the cryptology section

Raspberry Pi - November 1, 2012, 5:35 pm

Glad to see I have so much support!

Winning.

BaussHacker - November 1, 2012, 6:10 pm

I agree with this as they actually have nothing to do with "cryptography".

Artemis - November 1, 2012, 9:51 pm

I'd be happy to write up a set of suggestions for requesting a crypt

Like correct settings for each RAT to be crypted

A layout for crypt requests

Be careful of any people that may bind their server with yours before crypting

Etc, let me know!

Rwkeith - November 1, 2012, 10:13 pm

Sounds good, but the thing is, they are requests. How many threads do we see for offers? There just wont be any productivity. I may be wrong though.

ntoskrnl.exe - November 1, 2012, 10:39 pm

Great idea, no more stupid spam...

Hope this will get alive!

Terry A. Davis - November 1, 2012, 11:47 pm

Can we get a report on this or something because these are spread all over the place "Begginner hacking, hacking requests, gay ass requests." I think it would be better to narrow it down to one forum

Dan. - November 2, 2012, 11:31 am

I don't think this is a good idea.

HF has never really wanted to encouraged "begging" for lack of a better word on the forum.

It will just encourage a lot of crap posts that do nothing for the site at all. The messages will really have no other content then PM me, because you would not be able to link them to the file needed crypting.

I don't see this happening.

Well, crypting services may still be a good idea.

Free would go in "Free Services and Giveaways"

Paid would go in "Service Offerings"

Well, of course but wouldn't you agree that filtering out all the useless begging threads that really have nothing to do with cryptography?

I just don't agree with shoving the clutter under the bed. Make a solution, don't a cover up.

I don't really see it as being something that can be "solved". Do you? If so, I'm curious how.

No dick sarcasm intended. ?

Vlad1k - November 3, 2012, 12:51 am

I support this suggestion.

Scar?face - November 3, 2012, 5:09 pm

I hope this doesn't get added. There would be so many LQ Skids in that section posting BS like "plzzzz sum1 crypt for me??"

So you think that would be worse than flooding the cryptography section with non cryptography related posts?

Please.

#Skyline - November 3, 2012, 8:05 pm

I do support this. But if this section does happen, it is going to be full of useless shit which will get ignored. And people only do crypting services for money these days.

Services can be housed there as well. As I said before, it would be much better than having it in the Cryptography section.

adampelletgun - November 4, 2012, 1:50 am

I would only support this if it was only for upgraded members.

Raspberry Pi - November 4, 2012, 11:07 am

(Nov 4, 2012 01:50 AM)adampelletgun Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I would only support this if it was only for upgraded members.

Well, if that were the case it could easily be narrowed down into the requests section twice upgraded members can already access or something.

The requests for crypts in the cryptography section (which is the bulk of them) are mostly made by regular members.

itproxy101 - November 4, 2012, 11:12 am

I hope it does get added since, some people may want to be generous to the community to start a service for crypting. That can go over there. This is a good idea.

PaulyD - November 4, 2012, 3:04 pm

Raspberry Pi - November 6, 2012, 9:42 pm

This got much more support than I expected.

tezz - November 7, 2012, 12:41 pm

Why not placing it in Hacktools section?

because Crypting EXE = 95% blackhat

Salty Bacon - November 7, 2012, 5:10 pm

This is a great idea! Especially if you just made a crypter and would like to test it on people's exes.
Great Suggestion! ?

The amount of people I see joining just to request a free crypt are in the hundreds.
