Thread: [\[Alpha\] BatchN?T Alpha release](#)

AMDjack - October 29, 2012, 4:58 pm

Well today is the alpha release of BatchN?T, it's nothing special and only includes one command but its a big one and I need some testers to tell me any bugs they come across. The GUI hasn't changed much but a setup has been incorporated and your viruses are now compiled using iexpress. For most of you guys you already know this so you can scroll down and download the alpha version but for the new guys read this. You NEED an FTP server to make this work, it's the only way a batch file can communicate to another computer.

And for those who do not know, I did not steal this code. Quantum Batch was my old name before my accounts got merged.

Nice :D

How did you get batch working on your computer again? Just wondering.

AMDjack - October 29, 2012, 5:00 pm

I made the extension .cmd and it worked like a charm

DesuDesuDesuDesu - October 29, 2012, 5:03 pm

Well.... It doesn't work on Windows 8 Pro. It just opens up with the slave checking part then goes to an empty slave window with no prompt for server details.

Dark_Noodles - October 29, 2012, 5:04 pm

This is pretty impressive work my friend.

You made a GUI in Batch, and also made it compile in EXE (using iExpress, but still awesome!)

I'm definitely using this.

Can I teamview you? I would like to see whats going on.

Invicta - October 29, 2012, 6:26 pm

I'd be very impressed if you made the server it batch and then the panel in PHP. That's my suggestion.

WOLGA - October 29, 2012, 7:06 pm

You should change 'slaves' to 'Bots' and what does the virus do?

AMDjack - October 29, 2012, 8:10 pm

it's a RAT, it does the basic functions of a RAT.

WOLGA - October 29, 2012, 9:17 pm

Ah. Why do you always call a RAT a virus, there's a pretty big difference, you know?

AMDjack - October 30, 2012, 4:24 am

I don't know and I couldn't care less.

SIM-1073426 - October 30, 2012, 4:27 am

Hmm.. It didn't work on vmware. It worked on my own machine though. Malwarebytes also saw the virus it created as an actual virus lol.

AMDjack - October 30, 2012, 4:03 pm

Lol i might have to look into that antivirus problem. I think all it's picking up is the FTP.

It was something about a Worm if i remember correctly.

Probably the usb autorun feature.

Considering that autorun is pretty much outmoded, you can cut it out to avoid getting detected.

DAVEologist - October 30, 2012, 5:41 pm

Pretty Cool OP. :) Looking forward for it. And, yeah. You beat the Server.exe size. Yours is 250 KB. Mine is over 502 KB. :P

Well I might not hold that trophy for long, there are still a few more things I need to add to it to make it compatible with all of the commands this RAT will offer.

A registered user on a public forum can hardly be considered anonymous.

And when you are deliberately installing said persons RAT a TeamView wouldn't really matter.

Toblerone - October 31, 2012, 11:07 am are you using windows 8?

Looks cool I'll check it out later.

And also I know the guy pretty well this wouldn't be the first teamview I have had with him. Guys report ANY bugs you encounter or a flaw in the system or a TUI(Text User Interface) error.

He said that he can't download your RAT.

Upload it again.

White Light - November 10, 2012, 8:12 pm

File Dropper only holds on to files for a short period of time, something I learned the hard way. Not a whole lot of sites will keep your files indefinitely.

DAVEologist - November 10, 2012, 8:30 pm

@AMD... you want me to host your file for you? :)

Yeah if you can that would be great

Johnny Cache - November 13, 2012, 12:41 pm

Hey, How did you do that with the colored text in the status line? Is there a tutorial? I find your RAT the most useful of all that i tested, that were written in batch though.

And yes, you can see that as a vouch <3 btw i've done a second mirror. BatchN?T-Mirror

AMDjack - November 25, 2012, 11:59 am

Nearly done with the next alpha release, a lot of bugs have been fixed!

BobFM - November 25, 2012, 12:20 pm

Wow, I'm impressed. Something worth looking at in this section.

Nice job, OP. ?

lupettox - June 22, 2013, 4:32 am

A-M-A-Z-I-N-G Thanks! Keep it up!

VEAxORE - June 22, 2013, 9:59 pm

Heh, AMD your back with another program. I'd like to see a list of upgrades from the last one. Keep up the good work.

I dare you to make a better TUI than my own. (Just kidding, yours beat mine by a long shot :P)

AMDjack - June 23, 2013, 9:14 am

Guys this is from BatchN?T 1.0. Please see my thread on BatchN?T 2.0 for everything.

jay1994 - October 24, 2013, 11:15 am

Peel my way out of here?....

I understand your "ub3r" but that doesn't mean you need to be a jerk. and I come here to ask questions, that's why I'm here. Instead of being rude, why don't you help people? And you don't need to call me nigga big guy, I'm white :)

What's the purpose of being rude to people on forums? I'm trying to learn... What's the problem with that?

Can anybody get me the source code for this? I really like to study the code of magnificent programs. I can't get it on my PC because the LCD broke down.

Thanks,
John

AMDjack acted the way he did because this section is so full of shit, and nothing is in place to prevent/stop it. There is a blatant lack of moderation in this section and it is in my honest opinion beyond saving. If anything, this section as a whole just needs to be deleted and redone, this time with a moderator in place to stop/ slow the amount of garbage that gets posted. Many of the people that showed any intelligence have left because there is no real content to this section anymore. I came back yesterday after being gone for a long time and its still the same, all I have seen of recently posted threads is shit. This section is so full of idiots and retards its unreal.

This exactly. This section does need more moderation for sure, it's obvious; it would be even better if it was to be deleted and then re-created.
