Well one reason is that like this report it doesn't have the UID number in the title and people change their names. OP needs to put the UID number in the title.

This SunHot guy started a thread selling a "spreading" service that wreacks of bullshit all over it. Re-posting all over his thread like he is in a frenzy to see how much cash he can grab before being booted. If you see the thread you would CLEARLY see the dude has bad intentions. Good luck on the cash man. I cant stand these fucking scammers.

Luckily the users are responding quite nicely to this scam report.

The user has been exiled and I see not further need for this thread.
