If you don't know who made them then just say something along the lines of "These were not made by me. Credits to the unknown creators."

Next time it doesn't let me edit, and you gotta know that in MOST of the pack's you see/download people don't make it. Simply because they do not own a high Nikon/Canon Camera. and i am pretty sure i got this from a Pirate website. just don't remember witch one.

~Sorry for my English.

Yes, that is a problem that I am trying to fix. I want people to know where their resources come from. In all of my pack's the resources are made by me.

Do you realize, that making a Download Button or a C4D pack is different than taking a 1000+ dollar camera, get the right setup and lighting, to make this Stock's and Photo's?

I already told you, if i remembered where i got these from, i would give out the link no hesitation.
