Thread: Remove a "adf.ly" link out of a .exe file.

matrixmama - November 12, 2012, 7:57 am

Hi, I'm interested in the last few days of cracking Programs(I'm such a noob in it), but I saw a program which uses an automatic adf.ly link to make money. I don't like to click even "Skip". So my question is: Can I remove it so I don't need the adf.ly Skipping ?

(I know my English isn't the best but I tried to write it so that you can all understand it)

Hello there,

You're asking how to get the file directly from the adf.ly url instead of waiting for the "skip" button?

Your "English is broken" and we can't understand.

you can't wait 5 seconds to download something lol?

Instead of writing a complex script, why not wait 5 seconds. And yes, I think there is a method, I can't remember it though :$

For # just press control + u then find the download link.

instead of spending hours to figure this out, just wait back for 5 seconds?

Perhaps he is talking about making a program that he could upload to a slave that visits the ADFLY link and skips the ad without having to manually do it?

Hmm, sounds like I have something to do this weekend XD
