No one gets the down right funny out of this. KGB.. Spies.. And a Plain and Simple Admin Page <.<
God Russians are funny.

SoLong - November 17, 2012, 3:27 am

I didn't find this funny at all, mind telling me what is the funny part please?

stdio - November 17, 2012, 3:28 am whats your point??

its not funny =|

Bioblaze Payne - November 17, 2012, 3:34 am

@.@ i guess im way older then you guys... cause... wow.. XD no one getting the references? the Skits or anything XD the KGB Login Page? Nothing? XD damnit AGE COMES WITH DRAWBACKS

Lol. ;3 kk my big cyberbawlzeeee friend. Maybe when its not 4am, ill give you a lesson in reality. But :P hay not today. Its 4am. Anyways in the Early 90s, a story went through Efnet and Dalnet about the KGB Login page, just using the Standard White, with Login and Password. It was said to have only 1 Username and Password

Operation Login

Now the reason why this is so funny. Look at the Link. I think someone put that there as a joke, that or its just a Seriously funny Coincidence. You can Still Find at old Bash Log about it somewhere, where SwampRat, BlackStain and KillStreak were Talken with OppedFool in (Channel Removed) It was a Huge huge thing for over a year, may not seem long to you guys but when this shit was dialup. That shit was insane. Much like the Bomb Shelter for the President +1 555-555-5555 <--- :P Was supposibly the old number, Oh and you can definitely find out about the KGB blank login page on Textfiles i know they have a Recording in one of the Zines it was funny as shit back in the Day. Cause people would be like "I know where the Page is." man XD life was so joyful when dialup was around before porn was so accessible.... Lulz

It seems as if you're the immature one here. You must have the mental ability to stay serious at something of a four year old if you're laughing because of an administration page on a website that is there so that the website can stay up. There is no need to hide it unless they are seriously paranoid that someone can break into it. Nothing new.
