

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: [\[HELP\]Text protecting\(not sure how it's called\)](#)

?osty - November 27, 2012, 4:26 am

Hello,

I'm just done with coding and designing my website. But I'm having one little problem. Does someone have some sort of code to hide text?

I've tried googling but it was kinda difficult for me.

Note.

I'm not really a coder I'm only a graphic designer. I only know how to code a layout(PSD file).

For example;

Quote:Password:

12

So it shows it as "" on the website.

Thanks in advance!

3lit3 - November 27, 2012, 4:34 am

Is password in an input box?If yes use `<input type="password">` for password input freakyg - November 27, 2012, 4:38 am

Aside from a password input, whats the point in hiding text on a website? the whole point of a website is to display text/content

?osty - November 27, 2012, 4:45 am

(Nov 27, 2012 05:34 AM)3lit3 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Is password in an input box?If yes use `<input type="password">` for password input

Ah great thank you. I'll try it out as soon as I'm home.

(Nov 27, 2012 05:38 AM)freakyg Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Aside from a password input, whats the point in hiding text on a website? the whole point of a website is to display text/content

Well it has a login/submit box in it. But when someone wants to login or submit something they obviously need to enter their password.

But it shouldn't look as normal text for safety/protection.

EDIT:

Alright guys it worked! Thanks alot.

3lit3 - November 27, 2012, 4:56 am

Glad to help you.Any problem hit me up :)