Language and Literature Section

I hereby nominate the construction of a new section: Language and Literature.

This should be enlisted under the Hack Forums Open Discussion section.

Hack Forums - the forum with a myriad of wonderful hues - would be more likely subjected to an increase in interests and topic count for people can now share and recommend, discuss, and analyze literary works.

Hack Forums already has the following sub-forums: The Lounge; Member Contests; Anime Adventures; News and Happenings; Movies, Videos, and Cinema; Science, Religion, Philosophy, and Politics; Melody, Harmony, Rhythm and MP3. All it is missing is this sub-forum.

Vote if you approve; veto if you do not approve.

Omissions and suggestions are desirable as well.

Names will be implemented down below.

Honestly, since I'm not any high class member or anything, my opinion probably will not be considered to any regard, but, quite frankly, I would say this would be quite an extravagant add to the forums. I wouldn't mind reading and analyzing what people have written in their spare time or analyzing the works of some other great minds out there.

Op, I will be for it. I think it's quite a wonderful idea. Now, let's hope that this will become real.

I thank you for having such an intriguing mind-set; thus, I'll have your name added to the list.

Ah, I see - my sincere apologies. Is there someone who can move this thread to its rightful section?

You can also PM them to move it.

Take it to <https://hackforums.net/forumdisplay.php?fid=134>, the lounge is no place for suggestions.

I'll vouch for it, I love analysing literature.

Nope, just wait for a mod to move it.

Yeah this would be nice but it doesn't seem like there are too many students of literature around here.
