Thread: [\[REQ\] Website Banner GFX](#)

II MONEY II - December 11, 2012, 8:05 pm

I just started a little website to offer my computer services. I was wondering if someone could help me out with a cool 3D banner.

Size: 728x90

Colour Scheme: Something that will stick out on my site

Website: <http://iworkonthe.webs.com/>

Text: I Work On The Webs!

Anything else: If there can be any type of effect on the "!", that would be cool. But if now, a simple shine going across [left to right] would be nice.

If anyone wants to put forth a lot of effort and make me something really outstanding, ill be willing to pay. But please PM me if you'd like to talk business. If someone can do this for me for free, that would be even better. But what ever works :)

Thanks to all you GFXers out there! You've really helped me out a lot in the past. Wish I could learn the stuff you all know!

Sorry, if posting my website is against the rules, please remove it! I am seriously not here to try and break the rules. Just don't really know how to explain things that well when it comes to GFX. So I find it easier to just show the GFXer the source where their art will be placed.

Hi. Already working on it. I just have a couple of questions,

- ~ What type of fonts do you like?
- ~ Do you want images or just text?
- ~ Serious / Funny / Crazy - What style?
- ~ Any style from here? *My Thread <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3087238>

~ What type of fonts do you like?

I would something that looks tech like. But also know that this is going to be my business, so nothing childish.

~ Do you want images or just text?

Just text please, with a transparent background if that's possible.

~ Serious / Funny / Crazy - What style?

Serious with a pinch of crazy! I want it to be professional but also say "Hey, I have a fun side as well." :)

& thanks sooo much GEIGENSTARK! Your a lifesaver!

Awesome! Thanks a ton man! When I upgrade my account, I'll be sure to give you some rep. :) I really enjoy it when members help other members out without all the chaos. It's like seriously, whats the point. If you want to help then help and if not then don't :P But I appreciate what your doing! Thanks again :)

Hey, I re-read your post, and I saw it mentioned that you wanted it 3D, eh. I do mostly 2D graphics. I will try the 3D, but before I read it this is what I mocked up. I looked at your site, and it seems that you want a more techy style like you said, and more darker colors.

II MONEY II - December 11, 2012, 8:44 pm

If you can't do 3D, can you please just make a single row of text (non of sideways stuff) and a cool style text. Yeah, darker is needed, light colors wont really make sense on my website :P But I still like what you did. Has it's own style to it.

Surgere - December 11, 2012, 8:47 pm

Alright. I'm just showing you one more example, and then just the row of text.

P.S. I can give you a concept in Photoshop of how you can theme your whole site using this color-reference. I imagine it would sustain a very rich-trustworthy feeling in your customers.
