Thread: [\[Discussion\] 1337day A.K.A ripped Milw0rm from 0days to 0wannabe? Oh 0why?](#)

pwntoken - December 12, 2012, 9:14 pm

Recently the inj3ct0rs project is being greedy, now they need us hackers to register there and then get a exploit, also subjected to gold membership and regular ones.

There is now this thing that they hacked exploithub.com and got many military 0days as well as many other wealthy vulnerabilities, which they are ready to sell, the amount would be high and the quantity of these 0days seems high too, also, there is a suspicion, that they are now offering there 31337 penetration tests to all the registered customers and they will need to buy this service. ?

think, this is being so much greedy over the ripped milw0rm project they are continuing with, also to hold up there site and productivity loss, they have now registered 3 mirrors, .net/.org and a .com. ?

Seems some people have really good amount of 0days and vulnerabilities over there servers, guess what if we can steal something from the hackers good community stealers? ?

no, the exploits aren't fake,i tested some of them, 4 0days too. But they ripped it from explout-hub not exploit-db ! ?

VipVince - December 13, 2012, 4:39 am

I submitted and got several exploits on exploit-db and have noticed that one of them is one 1337day.com but I could care less.

you obviously dont know what youre talking about trying to say they arent fake

what about the fake vbulletin 0days

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3058648>

and the other 0days they trying to sell that are free public releases.

ExploitHub is the first legitimate marketplace for validated,
non-zero-day exploits

So they're selling exploits for which advisories already exist? lol.

no, basically they sell exploits to which the advisories aren't yet published, and that ay he inj3ct0rs get a advantage to sell those stolen exploits. Read
