Well, if someone can pirate Photoshop, they should be able to use clipping masks.

Aren't you being a little too harsh? I see no reason to hate on this thread when I'm complete beginner when it comes to graphics and I find this tutorial pretty neat knowing.

I'm always harsh, and when people don't crack and remain respectable, they earn my respect. And if they don't they make themselves look like morons.

He didn't look like a moron, he just didn't use the technical term for it.

What he said was correct, just longer.

Edit; I see your previous names were Sexuality, are you the same Sexuality that was from Propitious? If so you were a lot nicer then.

You took my words out of context, the OP isn't a moron, I actually respect him because of the way he responded to my "harshness".

And yea, that's me. You're also correct, I've grown and seen the world through a new set of eyes.

Ah, I thought you were implying he was a moron for his tutorial which is why I said that.

You seem a lot different, a lot harsher. I don't think you should let it effect your personality, there's a time to always be harsh and a time to just be a nicer person. So times you may get a responsive you never expected.
