

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: [\[REC\] Time Travel Anime](#)

proXace™ - January 6, 2013, 4:42 am

For some strange reason i've been fascinated by time travel over the holiday season. Probably started when I decided to pull out FFXIII and FFXIII-2

Anyway just off the top off my head, the anime I have watched.Steins:Gate

Zero no Tsukaima

Dog Days

Not sure if you would class Zero or Dog Days as something to do with time travel, but does involve a parallel universe. Something like this would be fine too.

WDCFTW - January 6, 2013, 5:06 am

Do you like dragonball Z? Only one I know really..

proXace™ - January 6, 2013, 5:10 am

Lost count at the amount of times I've watched the Dragonball series.

BaussHacker - January 6, 2013, 5:25 am

Mirai Nikki involves time travel (But that is late in it though.)

(Jan 6, 2013 06:06 AM)iphish Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Do you like dragonball Z? Only one I know really.. Dragonball does not involve time travelling.

DarkShadowz - January 6, 2013, 5:38 am

Here's an anime movie that perfectly fits what your looking for.

http://myanimelist.net/anime/2236/Toki_wo_Kakeru_Shoujo

proXace™ - January 6, 2013, 5:44 am

(Jan 6, 2013 06:25 AM)BaussHacker Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Mirai Nikki involves time travel (But that is late in it though.)

I started watch Mirai Nikki, but for some odd reason decided to drop it. Now would probably be the best time to pull it out of the archives again.

(Jan 6, 2013 06:38 AM)DarkShadowz Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Here's an anime movie that perfectly fits what your looking for.

http://myanimelist.net/anime/2236/Toki_wo_Kakeru_Shoujo

I'm completely against movies, but reading the plot did intrigue me. Will be sure to check it out.

Any more suggestions?

Alexchaos - January 6, 2013, 8:28 am

Kyou Kara Maou! is a kind of time travel more in the genre of Dog Days, you might like it and it has over 100 episodes to keep you busy. :)

http://myanimelist.net/anime/251/Kyou_kara_Maou!

Tsubasa Chronicle. Read the synopsis you might be interested.

http://myanimelist.net/anime/177/Tsubasa_Chronicle

Mikasa - January 6, 2013, 8:29 am

Some time travel anime ^^,

Amatsuki

Natsuiro no Sunadokei

Seikimatsu Occult Gakuin

Natsu no Arashi

Fantastic Children

Ghost Hound

Pandora Hearts

Himiko-Den

Suzumiya Haruhi no Yuuutsu

atwqn - January 6, 2013, 9:08 am

I love the Dragon Ball series. I am so excited about them.

BaussHacker - January 6, 2013, 10:45 am

(Jan 6, 2013 06:44 AM)proXace™ Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I started watch Mirai Nikki, but for some odd reason decided to drop it. Now would probably be the best time to pull it out of the archives again.

I'm completely against movies, but reading the plot did intrigue me. Will be sure to check it out.

Any more suggestions?

Actually never watched it, only read it ^_^

werewolf100 - January 6, 2013, 11:06 am

isn't Inuyasha related to time travel

Eminent - January 6, 2013, 11:07 am

Reborn has a time travel arc that lasts around 130 episodes I think. The first 20 episodes are really painful to get through, but after that it's a good series. (I don't know why I've been recommending this so much lately)

Aberrant - January 6, 2013, 1:44 pm

I would recommend you watch Oda Nobuna no Yabo, the whole plot is based around a teenager who has travels back in time to the Civil War of Japan.

WDCFTW - January 6, 2013, 1:45 pm

(Jan 6, 2013 06:25 AM)BaussHacker Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Mirai Nikki involves time travel (But that is late in it though.)

Dragonball does not involve time travelling.

they go back to the beginning multiple times! and they move very fast, so fast that time stops.

Rakshasa - January 6, 2013, 1:55 pm

(Jan 6, 2013 06:25 AM)BaussHacker Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Mirai Nikki involves time travel (But that is late in it though.)

Funny because the sole mention of this in here is a massive spoiler >.<

Lewii mentions quite a few good ones. To add to it;
Madoka (not mentioned once?)
Ima, Soko ni Iru Boku
Higurashi Kai

juniiflow - January 6, 2013, 4:04 pm

(Jan 6, 2013 06:44 AM)proXace™ Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm completely against moviesnah, man. you are just ???
you are missing out.

BaussHacker - January 6, 2013, 8:26 pm

(Jan 6, 2013 02:45 PM)iphish Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) they go back to the beginning multiple times! and they move very fast, so fast that time stops.

They never go back to the beginning and time never stops. Goku is the fastest person in Dragonball using Instant-transmission, but that is not time travel and Goku says that himself!

Tell me one time where they go back in time. Also time only exist in the living world, not the other world (Aka. death world), so there would be no time travelling there.

Remember they cannot let Shenron take them back in time or stop time either because it would be out of his power.

Of course there is the "Time chamber", but it does not really count as it just slows down time outside and it's not even 10 episodes that covers them training in there.

Oh and wait coming to think of then there is one time back in the Dragonball series (not DBZ or GT) where Goku as a kid goes back to when Master Roshi was young, but that's about it. Nothing more and it's a single episode.

I think you need to rewatch or reread Dragonball.

Eclipse - January 6, 2013, 10:24 pm

Well there is one Anime, but it is only a movie if you're still interested. It's called Toki o Kakeru Shojo. Literally in English it translate to 'The Girl who leapt through time'. It's kind of good.

Check it out,
xHysteria.

BaussHacker - January 7, 2013, 1:31 am

(Jan 6, 2013 11:24 PM)xHysteria Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Well there is one Anime, but it is only a movie if you're still interested. It's called Toki o Kakeru Shojo. Literally in English it translate to 'The Girl who leapt through time'. It's kind of good.

Check it out,
xHysteria.

Just watched this and it's highly recommended! It was a perfect movie :3

Eclipse - January 7, 2013, 3:14 am

(Jan 7, 2013 02:31 AM)BaussHacker Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Just watched this and it's highly recommended! It was a perfect movie :3

I'm glad you liked that movie.
xHysteria.

proXace™ - January 7, 2013, 4:35 am

I'm gonna be adding all these to my 'to watch' list. Stuck house sitting for an Aunty. Can't download nothing with the useless Internet I'm stuck with :/