Contributions: Upgrade to L33T + Ub3r, do some GFX here and there for some users, a tutorial on setting up DarkComet, helped out members in the beginner hacking section.

What are you going to do with this? I'm going to try and get my msp from my banned account, learn about booters, try to get a domain so I can start a website, read the rest of them and then see if any will benefit me.

Contributions: Helping people out in the VB.net forum, Upgraded to L33T to support the forum, bought ebooks off the community (giving other people cash) lots of private coding for people and currently writing more programs for the general community! For example my latest release a captcha resolver!

What are you going to do with this? Well depending on what's in there, I will start my own website to start earning some cash on the other side, I will offer services for other members and so on c:
