Thread: [\[NEED RATING\] Rate this GUI \(comments and suggestions\) \[RATE\]](#)

Gr0wlit - January 15, 2013, 12:17 pm

Hey all! Since i'm redeveloping my software, i wanted to create something that appears cool to our eyes, so i thought that a dark background could be nice. So i created this (this probably will be the new gui of my sms spoofer). below, in this spoiler, the login form:

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Well, why this thread? i'd like to know your opinions, what can i add/remove/edit? Thank you!

Percocet - January 15, 2013, 12:19 pm

The border of the buttons is brighter than the textboxes. Try making them the same color.

Other than that, not bad.

li0nsar3c00l - January 15, 2013, 12:19 pm

the buttons border doesnt fit to the textboxed but i love the background...how did you made it?

edit: lol. same opinion

DJ BrU - January 15, 2013, 12:21 pm

Needs a like Icon really baddd broo!!

Like the desert needs the rain man!!!

Other than that looks legit.

Brighten the text color of the button, then maybe it'll look better.

Like make it a little brighter, but not too bright.

is that the color of the text? maybe make it even a bit brighter and the border a lil bit bigger...cause now it still looks darker than the text color :)

Try making the "Login" and "Sign Up" text on their buttons the same brightness as the textboxes headlining text.

That way the buttons will blend with the textboxes.

Hope I could help ?

He is just trying to say to get them as close as possible to matching. I must say though, that is a very finished and smooth looking theme! Nice job! How many controls have you made for it?

*Try editing the Button Text Color so that it is the same as the color of the Label Text!

got a screenshot of it? ;)

i dont know how dark you want it to be, but i think it would look great

Razza™ - January 15, 2013, 12:37 pm

Looks cool but I think you should put the login and register buttons on the same line and make them the same size.

the outline's color of the button is a little bit brighter than the textbox's border, i like it, you think i must change again it?

DJ BrU - January 15, 2013, 12:40 pm

The Icon Property is in the Properties Window for Form1, it requires .ICO files FYI. This will make your GUI 10* Better bro.

In my older version, i've done it, but i want to try with this new configuration. When you register yourself, you don't need anymore the sign-up button, so the user prefer (i think) press the big one, more easy and fast.

This is currently in developing, and i know how to change the default icon, this thread is only for the GUI into the form.. thanks anyway;)

What i recommend doing is making the login button as big as the textbox and make the height smaller, and put a link label under the login button saying Register.

mullinupp - January 15, 2013, 12:44 pm

I think that this GUI is much better lookin then before on SMS Spoofer.

Helroos - January 15, 2013, 12:44 pm

oh.. this isn't a theme man!

P.S. from italianhack right?

DJ BrU - January 15, 2013, 2:28 pm

For a finishing touch you could add a picture to the button. There are a lot of free .png files available for free.

Le Spy - January 15, 2013, 7:10 pm

Looks pretty cool OP. I personally would round the buttons a little bit, but thats up to you.
