Thread: Ghost In The Shell -Arise- Planned for 2013 !

Wishes - January 16, 2013, 6:08 am

Something I'll be waiting for this year...makes me very happy and excited!

Some comments from the net....

Quote:quick! somebody put me in hyper sleep and wake me when there's a subbed version.
I cant wait for it! its too much!

Quote:*Whistles* Some frekken high wall this new GiTS has to go through. Anyway, I'm looking forward to it still. Better GiTS than nothing. Though that bright blue shade of Motoko's hair just feels wrong; I'm already missing the old look.

Quote:Oooh, this is turning out to be a good year on the anime front.

Quote:I've been clammering for more GiTS but i'm not sure how to feel about this. I enjoyed Mardock Scramble but it was no GiTS and Ubukata other works don't exactly inspire confidence. Neither does the Director.

Quote:Some new anime that's actually worth watching

Lol @ "She looks pretty terrible..." ?

Seriously though, I've been waiting for more information on this for ages. Heard rumors on this new GiTS project a long, long while ago, along with a new project for Mushishi and Kino due in 2013. If all rumors hold true my life will be fulfilled. Not even joking. Thanks for the update.

On an unrelated note, I haven't seen you here in awhile..
