Thread: [\[tut\] a new way to get 1 year free tld domain from intuit](#)

ademin - January 18, 2013, 5:55 pm

little bit old but still working. may be you can give a try. here's a tutorial

1. sign up here <http://www.homestead.com/~site/jws/googleSignupReducedSubmit.action>
2. if you are already register just sign out and let your account for 1 or 2 days prevent your account to be kicked or closed by intuit.
3. after 1 or 2 days sign in to intuit and click "Choose a domain (www.yourname.com) for your website"
4. insert your new domain name. if your domain available to register click "Get Domain".
5. complete your personal information like name, email, mobile/telp, address, etc
6. do not mark "Domain Privacy" and then click submit
7. a pop up window will appear that contain billing address and your credit card information.

on billing address add whatever you want on credit card information try to use this

Name On Card : whatever you want
Card Type : visa
Credit card number : 4326282005013233
Exp date : 07 - 2014
Card Security Number : 912

8. last click "purchase"
9. enjoy your free domain. ??

you can gogole to use other valid credit card if the one i provide is not working

I am not going to do this because of what people said.I think you should ask a Mod to delete the thread because people said that this is not allowed.

It is not allowed, you might want to remove the credit card information.

You will get your domain/account blocked within a week if you don't provide real information and if you don't pay the monthly fee.

Not working... It says me We were unable to authorize your credit card. Check the card number and try again, or use a different credit card.

Still I got a 4 days old account... hehe

Sorry to burst your bubble, "It's not carding", well considering the server is attempting to transfer $0.00 it is technically carding, as you are using someone elses card without their permission. Even if you are not taking out any funds. I would not follow this tutorial.
