If they are still being sold over Hackforums doesn't this mean you are leeching other people's written ebooks and not giving the users full credit?

Also are you not stopping people from making money from their hard earned ebooks?

- Got the website and it has many monetisation methods. Really good methods and all seem to be virus free and working. Thanks for the link. I hope none of these are leeched from HackForum users though.

Dude, these eBooks are being given for free over many other forums, and being sold over some, so?

Why do i get blamed for it? I am only help some of the people getting good ebooks :)

- Got the website and it states the following: "Welcome to Money monetizing section. Here you will get, all the info, tools and eBooks you need to get started on how to earn money on the internet. This section will teach you the ins and outs of the Internet Marketing. We unlike other websites and forums, provide you all the stuff for FREE.

Our newest section about Premium eBook and techniques is under construction! It will provide all the tools that are NOT FREE anywhere else! But free on actionbleed.in"

Thus, the website stating it is under construction means it actually has no monetisation methods as of yet. So, basically the OP stated he is leeching other peoples HackForum methods and giving out a link to a site that infact has no monetisation methods on it at all at the present time. Really dodgy if you ask me :(

What the fuck are you on about? Go to the bottom of the page and click on one of those links. There are plenty of monetisation methods.

Yes this is leaking, you cannot really "Give away" the eBooks that you purchased off HF to others, that is violating your TOS with the eBook/Seller
