Please keep in mind that this is invite only.
Sandshrew & I are very excited to have this group open.

We already have a few members in mind for invite, so stand out and you might just get invited.

This group will be dedicated to the bettering of the HF community. We will make sure to help members regardless of their situation.

Thanks. :)

EDIT: Please do not ask me for an invite, if anything, this will hurt your chances.

Feel free to wear this signature to support the group!

To those of you who think this'll be like 143, think again and wait about a week.

We have different things in plan, we plan to take things to a much higher level than them. :)

Kotei - January 29, 2013, 5:04 pm

I wish you luck though if that's what you think, your gonna need it.

I wouldn't say this Sandshrew.

143 is an amazing group.

We do have very big plans for this group, but there is no need to put down another group.

Either way, the two groups will not be alike.

They will be seporate.

I'm pretty sure that you can either guess what we plan to do, or you can wait a week to see it. I'd rather not ruin a big surprise. :D

To those wondering on the invites, if you think you're doing well on here, continue it. Don't act different to get into a group, that's not what we look for.

Yes, but Rep is -to some extent- a reflection of that. The more rep you have, the chances are the more people you've helped.

No, gaining rep on here isn't hard.

People sell rep on other forums.

People just PM ubers and give them like free steam accounts or something like that and hope for a +3.

I don't care about rep at all, as long as it's not in the negatives.

I personally am not a fan of your attitude towards the group. How you think the group will turn out it will not. You are having sort of a "only the hotshots get invited" mentality, but let me tell you that is not at all how it is going to be. We will be selecting members of all kinds to be in the group.

Hexidecal sold the group "Logic" to them, and they bought it, requested graphics for money, and then changed everything.

Soulmate - January 29, 2013, 5:20 pm

A lot more groups set out to help the forum than 143, but the 143 stereotype is that is is for emotional support. Groups like Alliance, Red Lions, and Empire have the goals of basically doing the same thing.

Charles Hamilton - January 29, 2013, 5:20 pm

I think the aesthetics look amazing with the high quality userbar and everything however I feel like it is just a duplicate of 143.
Nevertheless, good luck with your group! I hope to be apart of it one day.

143 is alot more than just emotional support. People tend to miss that part of what we're about and think we're a one trick pony but it's far from the truth. As for the Angels, as long as they keep things consistent in terms of quality and their goal at hand, I think they will flourish. Juicy Booty has been a great member of 143 and I can't wait to see how he expands his knowledge and expertise into the new group, The Angels.

Like I said, it is the stereotype of the group that a lot of members, like myself see. It doesn't mean it is true, but I mostly see 143 in Innuendo and just helping with problems of no specific material in the lounge, and the subforum is pretty secretive.

143 is more of a family than a bunch of members. It is by far one of the most high quality groups I've been in, in terms of respect, activity, and goals set out by the group. I think partly because of Daisy and Cody's wonderful leadership but also the quality of guys that we have. The reason why I'm anticipating The Angels to impress is because One of the leaders has experienced that sort of environment and with his creativity and experience, can create something new and exciting.

Frawshy - January 29, 2013, 5:34 pm

Okay, seems like some of you took me the wrong way earlier on this thread about 143.

I adore Cody, Daisy, and the entire 143 members, and what the group does. They are a truly amazing group, they've done a lot for the site. A lot of the members from 143 have supported me during rough times. I'm not throwing them under the bus at all. I only meant to say that they are great, we just plan to bring things to the next level, I've had a lot of time to think of what I've wanted our group to do, and I can positively say that it'll be great. Things from 143 has given me ideas for the things that I want from my group, partially. All in all, they're a great group, and I didn't mean to throw hem under the bus like that.

Thanks.

This exactly.

Two of our own now have their own groups and I'm like a proud sister.
I'm extremely happy for them & wish both groups great things.

Also, Juicy Booty knows he can come to me for anything & I'll gladly help as well as I can.

As far as 143 goes our memebrrs are made up of many different ppl, not just "popular" or "well known". Take a closer look & you will see that.

As far as the innuendo Sect. we have 1 thread there, that has offered help/hope & even friendship to many who felt they had no one else to talk to.

143 is more than meets the eye.
Some just have an askew point of view.

Some ppl just have a group or are just in a group.

In 143 we live it. We experience it. We've opened up to each other more than some of us have to even ppl in RL. That says a lot.

@Sandshrew. Thank you. No harm done bud. =)

Frawshy - January 29, 2013, 5:50 pm

I apologize for the hate but what exactly is this group? The description is too vague.

I agree with Sandshrew.

It's pretty pathetic.

2 members that I have seen already being assholes.

I leave for a couple months to see a bunch of random groups being made? I thought that Omni made it, to where people couldn't pay to make groups or no more could be made? Guess with money rules don't matter..

OT: I like the userbar, not going to lie about that but good luck on being a HQ group & to the members who get in!

No more official groups are being sold by Omni, they are already existing groups who are being sold by their owners.

I never insulted the group lol

Just wanted to know why groups always make a thread like this. I don't like seeing the same thing happen 5 times.

As far as 143 goes our memebtrs are made up of many different ppl, not just "popular" or "well known". Take a closer look & you will see that.

As far as the innuendo Sect. we have 1 thread there, that has offered help/hope & even friendship to many who felt they had no one else to talk to.

143 is more than meets the eye.
Some just have an askew point of view.

Some ppl just have a group or are just in a group.

In 143 we live it. We experience it. We've opened up to each other more than some of us have to even ppl in RL. That says a lot.

How can you judge a group when it just literally started?

You can't just judge them, off what they made the description for their group as.

I mean, I see where you all are coming from, but shouldn't the group's actions reflect themselves?

Don't get me wrong, I'm not craving it (I'm not going to lose sleep over another groups decision), but it's to your benefit. If Google said they came up with this revolutionary product that'll change the world, but doesn't say anything about this product, would you care as much as if they mentioned exactly what it'll do, and how?

People do that to get others wondering what it'll be and what it'll do. I would care more if Google were to give us a hint, then on a later date, tell us what it is.

While that's true, it does build up hype (For example, people craving over a new Call of Duty game), but be careful. If you promise too much, and build too much hype (Ex: Call of Duty, or Obama when he first became president), people will be disappointed when it's not as epic as they had imagined.

Well, good luck then. I'll keep my opinion of this group being another generic group until I see results, as planning and hype is exactly that - they don't provide guarantee's.

If you promise too much, and build too much hype (Ex: Call of Duty, or Obama when he first became president), people will be disappointed when it's not as epic as they had imagined.

I can see that.. All the hype, and then nothing. Then the group does a few giveaways, goes pay to enter, then changing or selling said group. Hope that doesn't happen here.

Well with Google probably not, since they are a very reputable group and have never failed to deliver in the past. ?

But for something that is a new group that makes big promises people are going to be skeptical and need to be reassured.

I think they need some lessons in Public Relations =)

Time for Bandors's guesses on the group, based on all the foreshadowing Sandshrew has done.

Judging by all the info I have collected I have come to the conclusion that they will offer something along the lines of real world good, IE donating to charities or something along those lines. I'm also guessing that they will have a general suicide prevention thread, and act like angels for those who are depressed. Judging by how Sandshrew has so much emphasis on 'It's going to be BIG' I'm guessing that they will also host give-aways and other thing along those lines. I'm also thinking, that because of these statements, Sandshrew will launch with some kind of a "BANG" event. This could be a giveaway, although it is highly unlikely. I'm curious to see what it will be, although my best guess is on some kind of a "I just donated X to Y charity" or something along those lines. Again, this is all just speculation from my crazy mind and odds are all of this is horribly, horribly incorrect.

Actually wouldn't it be cool if a group did recruitment based off of real life charity that you have done?

Or if they organized something like where they could get members to sign up for things like Feed My Starving Children or other charity events.

I think that would be awesome if some group found a way to organize something like that.

It's all good Xbox live codes aren't disallowed just yet, most people get them from Chinese companies from eBay for cheaper and sell them on Amazon and forums such as these. One particular member got banned for BHA relations to XBL codes but they haven't been added to BH activity yet by Omni.

I really like this idea actually. If I may put in my own two cents: most users have an impressive (or ostensibly impressive) resume of their internet activities. The one thing that's incredibly arduous to develop understanding of is a users character in real life. Organizing recruitment based off of real live charity, involvement within the community, and other standard guidelines would prevent e-charlatans from slipping through the filter of applications based on virtual achievements. (Though showing intelligence and character online is important as well)

Well already saw a few member in the thing is if you have been here long and are in other groups you pretty much have a bigger chance since you showed what you have to offer. Members like me try to out stand but haven't reached it quite and later on will be on of those people so I'll keep trying as long as I have a chance. Meaning I'll keep trying everyone has a chance but either small or big.

Why are all the new groups invite only, what happened to good ol recruitment threads.

It's like if you're not a well known member, even if you're HQ it's very hard for you to get in.

Well I guess it's the owners choice so that the group is wanted more.

Good luck with your group sandshrew, and maybe someday I'd get an invite :)

Bye.It's probably because with recruitment threads, you get members putting all their effort into their application, then when they're accepted, they don't care about upholding any of the values in their application and basically drag down the group.

By making it invite only, it's easier to evaluate prospective members and fully understand them before offering them a place.

Though a side effect is most probably only extremely active and well known members will be invited.

Maybe this will answer a few questions, when I asked Sandshrew to comment on the group if he wanted me to put it in the HF New Headlines he gave me the following:

Sandshrew Wrote:The Angels was purchased by Sandshrew and Juicy Booty, who purchased it from Hexicidal. The group is being completely changed from Logic to The Angels. Sandshrew is owner with Juicy Booty as leader. They've said their will not be a pay-to-join system, ever. The group is an exclusive group to be in, as it's invite only. The userbar was created by +Awesome, along with the banner and forum icon. The group is expected to announce it's release and member invites on January 26th or January 27th.

The Angels is a group of carefully selected, and highly talented members. Our goal is to make an impact and help members throughout the forum. The gates for recruitment are always closed; invite only.

Your xbox live giveaway doesn't make your group have any quality at all.

In my eyes, Angels is a group with 0 quality because you just created it. You have to earn quality and respect of members, each user saying "Looks HQ" is saying it without meaning behind those words.

In my eyes, Angels is a group with 0 quality because you just created it. You have to earn quality and respect of members, each user saying "Looks HQ" is saying it without meaning behind those words.

At no point in his post did he say that the group is already high quality. I don't where you getting that information from. ?

I have a sense we'll be seeing a new revolution of contributions from this group, from charities to petitions to helping those who require help outside of the forums but also as well in the forums. I'm very excited to see what comes of this group and with a name like The Angels the ideas and possibilities are endless!

I hope to see something like that too, having members participate in charity events for their own communities would be a nice thing to see and would ultimately help more than just this forum.

Plus it would be breaking new ground in terms of what a group contributes =)

I see the majority posts above complementing the group, and what it does.

But what's different to it? What's to say this group is any different to 143, Illuminati or Infamous? All these groups are set out with the same objectives, so why are you following suit?

Do something different. Inventive. Make the group original, rather than just following in the foot steps.

Maybe the group's goal will change in the time as it seems like most usergroups do this nowadays.

Just a tip for the constant posters, ass kissing, and more replies within the thread itself give you a lesser chance of getting in. They might do it different, but this is along of almost every other group.

People need to stop with this, because I was invited to both 143 and The Angels randomly by people whom I had talked to maybe once. It's not "our friend's only", because I had no friends on here until I met the people of 143. Plus after spending about 5k with a group, the owners can do what they want. If you don't like it, buy your own group, some are still for sale.

We are at war with the angels. We are playing pong to the death. AND THE HEATED BATTLE CONTINUES...bloop...bloop...bloop...

You guys should battle with Zork. You need a x86 bit machine (if they even exist anymore) with all the x64 ones xD

<3 Windows XP (Not for x64)

AceHF - January 31, 2013, 7:04 pm

Damnit I want to be in this group the userbar's so sexy! :-)

Lottery. - January 31, 2013, 7:26 pm

This is already an extremely awesome group. I look forward to see what they can offer.

Best wishes guys.

Reanna - January 31, 2013, 7:30 pm

Although the first post leaves me a little questionable about what the group actually focuses on, this looks like a very promising group and I absolutely love the graphics!

Oh, Thanks for the heads up, My bad, And goodluck for your group Bro! ?

Vitani's Mate - January 31, 2013, 9:53 pm

Lol nice group man.

I was going to buy Logic but i guess i was too late.

But it looks like a pretty awesome group.

192837465 - January 31, 2013, 10:13 pm

I hope this group grows to be something big. Amazing as it is. This group looks great :)

There is always root looks like people buy groups that are not announced for sale.

Example: logic and the corporation I expected them to stay.

Sorry it has been a bit since I have checked up on this thread for questions/feedback.

Has a very busy day. :)

Nico Robin - January 31, 2013, 11:39 pm

The group is out at last :D

looks so professionally done & nice :P

me likie

SnitchingRAT - January 31, 2013, 11:40 pm

This looks like a great team! I hope I can make it one day!! Good luck with the Team!! Looks great!

Well anyways the feedback is great ;D

It's a really awesome group!

Syke. - February 1, 2013, 12:29 am

Wow i really like the graphic design of the group it looks great.

h?cker22 - February 1, 2013, 12:30 am

What happened to the thread Sandshrew said he was going to create?

The informational thread, supposedly to be long?

Wallhacks - February 1, 2013, 12:52 am

This group looks amazing, love the userbar, congrats to the invited members who have made it in!
:pp

Goodies - February 1, 2013, 1:18 am

I'm excited for this and pow3r. I hope omni goes through with it. I can't wait :D

He is in trouble with his parents currently, and I can't update the thread.

Raitz - February 1, 2013, 11:49 am

Congrats on the new group and all those who got invited.

Looks like its gonna be a great group.

GI?ck - February 1, 2013, 12:24 pm

Man I want in this group,lol.

I will just wait until I am invited :)

Gustav - February 1, 2013, 12:57 pm

Hopefully i get invited xD

i've been looking for a group like this, good luck all with invites

Busy day yesterday, got in a bit of trouble.
I'll update it tonight though.

Paran?rma1 - February 1, 2013, 1:20 pm

I enjoy reading replies that say things about being invited.

Ass-kissing a leader is not how you get into groups.

Just be yourself and this group is the best. :D

SIM-1534439 - February 1, 2013, 2:02 pm

This seem's like an exceptional group you have here. Will look forward to see what your group brings to the forum. Love the user-bar and the way it's private.

Good luck !

Fluxify - February 1, 2013, 3:00 pm

I love the user bar as well.
Good luck with the group Sandshrew.

Look at where being myself has gotten me,
High school.

Nobility - February 1, 2013, 7:40 pm

Congratulations on finally getting it up! Hope to hear more from the group!
