Thread: Website Development {PHP HTML CSS JS} - Satisfied Customers Since 2013

MineSQL - January 31, 2013, 3:01 pm

UPDATE #3: January 13th 2015: Can you believe I'm still actively doing this? Well, I am. Send me a message or skype (minesql.ini) if you need some web work done.

UPDATE #2: June 24th 2015: As of right now, I have no projects on my plate and plan on coding a couple websites this week because I am in desperate need of money. I will only be accepting BTC, and require 50% up front. More than likely, I can finish your website in under a day.

UPDATE #1: Dec 22nd 2014: I've noticed lately that there are a lot of people that are creating threads like these. I started this over a year ago, when this wasn't such a saturated niche to scam people. I hope you realize this and you make your choice on a developer with this in mind.

I know you provide retheming as part of your service, but isn't using themes from ThemeForest a ripoff to the buyers? I.e.: EnderCraft.

Now, I do not know the background story behind this, but you should at least define in your portfolio that you used someone else's theme, instead of taking credit for everything. For some of your work, I can notice the difference between what's yours and what's not yours. Again, I do not know the background story nor I like to assume. I am just throwing this out there. I cannot argue because your service is very affordable and quick. So overall, props.

Hi,

This member claimed to have created Payivy to people on skype. I am here to clarify this is not true. When Payivy was started a few years ago, we hired MineSQL to do some small changes and fix some stuff on the site. Not only he overcharged, he was lazy and his code was terrible. I chose to not hire him any further and contacted a member on here known as Abraham Lincoln and a few others to develop the site.

This was what he said to people on Skype

<https://i.imgur.com/Oz0XfLz.png>

He did not create Payivy like he claimed. He was hired to make some changes then was let go. Original script was created by someone else (and a staff on HF can verify it because a staff on HF coded the original version).

He tried to scam me by lying, he wasted time and I wouldn't recommend him. Anyway the site has a new owner, and I will clarify again he has nothing to do with the site. Please remove my vouch off your thread and stop telling people you created payivy. You had nothing to do with it, and I hate how you put my vouch on the top just to lure in customers that's fucking idiotic.

Just finished up a project for another user, I am free to take on more projects. Send me a private message!

I'm still offering the service, and would prefer larger projects at this time. I'm not too busy right now, so I could finish most large projects in a weeks time. Contact me for more information.
