A charge back is getting opened right now. [2/11/13]

Charge back was unsuccessful, my membership was stripped, and no refund was initiated.

His Scam Report (He made the scam report for me charging back, which I haven't even done so yet.):

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3251343>

Story:

A few weeks ago I purchased a package on Grim Booter.

After trying to hit several home IPs offline, none of the attacks worked.

I then asked for a refund through PM...I received no response.

I waited a few days, tried to attack different IPs, and was still unsuccessful.

I then filed a support ticket on the website asking for a refund, and still didn't receive one.

I did receive this response however.

Spoiler (Click to View)

When I purchased the account, I never agreed to any terms, but apparently they updated the ToS since then, and expect me to agree to them.

The ToS wouldn't be under effect if the product doesn't work anyways.

I then PM'd DeltaDude, and asked for a refund.

I received this response.

Spoiler (Click to View)

My Account:

I would avoid purchasing Grim Booter at all costs.

The booter itself is trash, and the owners are sketchy.

Frawshy - February 11, 2013, 2:34 pm

You agreed to their T.O.S. you can't get a refund, the most they can do is add time to your account.

This pretty much stands for all booters.

The issue is, when I bought the package, they had no ToS on the site, or on the thread. They been updating constantly for the past few weeks, and have updated their ToS. I never agreed to the terms.

Wires - February 11, 2013, 2:36 pm

"No refunds unless agree'd by us" is stated in their ToS. Your not obliged to a refund as the ToS is automatically accepted on purchase. They also have the right to update their ToS anytime without telling you.

That's not how ToS work...

When Terms are updated, users have to agree upon the updated terms.

Nope, not yet but you are threatening to, and you also opened a scam report for no reason.

Sounds like you just wanted your money back. Even if not its about time you get scammed since you have multiple scam reports and you owe me my report or 11$ back..

For no reason?

You blatantly cheated me out of 30$.

Then got your friends to negative rep me, and 'vouch' on a scam report.

I might as well expose Grim Booter for being a scam...

You still have your account on the booter, you asked for a refund we said no...

and those "friends" are staff and are looking at you wondering what your issue is.

Once you buy something if you agree to the TOS you can't get a refund!

DeltaDude - February 11, 2013, 2:50 pm

When he purchased we also had a different source, i pulled up the old tos it stated as follows

Code
-Do not use this tool on any servers that are not your own.

-Do not abuse the stresser. "Abuse" of the this stresser is defined as the following:
Attacking the same IP repeatedly before the first attack against that IP expires

-Do not share login information with others we will ban your account.

-This tool is for educational purposes only

-This tool is for personal use only

-Macro's / autoclickers are strictly prohibited

-DDOS services are strictly prohibited

-We reserve the right to revoke your membership at any time, for any reason

-We are not responsible for what you do with this tool. You are liable for any damages done.

-We reserve the right to close down at anytime for any reason.

-Lifetime purchases are for the life of the site

-This tool is meant to be a network stresser for networks that you own! This is not meant to be used in inappropriate / illegal ways. Doing so is considered abuse.

-All sales are final charge backs will result in a scam report.

Crime your not making sense.

We have reviewed our PM,s and show no evidence you attempted to contact us with issues or refund during the time frames you speak of.

The message's we have seen from you in the ticket system express your delight with the service and then abruptly asking for a refund as you wish to use the money for other financial obligations.

A terms of service has been available since the beginning of grim even prior to using my sources.
ToS aside, show me a booter that allows refunds after 24 hours?

The average overall available power on the API linked to the stresser is 6Gbps, we further partition this available bandwidth down to ~2Gbps average a hit to ensure sustained power for active attacks.

We have seen a steep climb in use over the last 72 hours and have implemented features and will continue to work on and find avenues to ensure the power rises.

Side note, I believe ive seen the Zabbix/Dstat you speak of. If not ill go ahead and point this out, 800MBPS is considerable amount of inbound traffic. Without being given the ability to watch and validate the server tested against im ultimately led to conclude that we effectively maxed the port to your server however not the switch witch would continue to show a steady but max reading of what you recorded.

Also crimes, looking through your other posts and marketplace dealings you seem to have several other people waiting on products from you and claiming you dont deliver or reply.

I see 3 admins of grim posting in here within an hour of your message stating you want a refund, I find it hard to believe you contacted anyone within the first few days of the service asking for a refund.... not that we give them anyways

You guys are in the wrong.

False advertising, breach of ToS, and lying.

I'm opening a charge back as we speak.

Fatality` - February 11, 2013, 3:40 pm

If you can provide proof that you sent a pm to Deltadude 2 hours after purchase as you initially stated, I will see to it that this gets reconsidered for refund.

As with any stress testing service, especially lifetime accounts, refunds aren't given.

There is no evidence of false advertising within this or any other thread.

There was a breach of ToS, however, its not on our end. As stated in your latest support ticket, you were satisfied with the service but wanted a refund as you didn't have money for other things.

Again, nobody has told a lie in this thread. If you can provide proof that you requested a refund within the first 2 hours like originally stated ill see to it you get a refund.

If you cant provide this, id say it makes you a liar.

He sells electronics to people, tells them he has shipped em repeatedly and when i call him out on it says he was holding the money to make sure they dont charge back. He can easily be caught in his own lies and is simply trying to pilfer as much money as he can muster out of the good members here at hf.
