How To Change The Admin Password Without Previously Knowing The Password

Why would you want to do this?

You can become Admin on the computer which allows you to:

Visit blocked websites

Play games

Watch youtube

Facebook

Hack Forums at school and a lot more.

Obviously this guide won't work on all computers but will work on most.

1. Go to Control Panel
2. Click on Administrative Tools
3. Click on Computer Management.
4. Go to System Tools.
5. Then to Local Users and Groups
6. Under the USERS menu you will see all the accounts including the admin.
7. Right Click on the Admin account and select Set Password
8. Enter the new password without the old password
9. You are done..

It works. If you're on your school computer do it to the admin

There's no way this'll work on my school's computers. Thanks anyway though, i'll try my other low-secured school.

SHADOW REALM - February 15, 2013, 11:08 pm

No lol, you need admin access to get to those places so you can't do it at school

?Eccentric? - February 15, 2013, 11:12 pm

"Works on most" Yeah no. You have to have admin access in the first place to do this.. So it's kinda pointless.

This is the equivalent of
How to steal a car

Step 1: Put keys in ignition
Step 2: Turn
Step 3: Drive

Thanks a lot good tutorial :) never knew Microsoft allows this!!

Posiedon - February 16, 2013, 9:24 am

Definitely wont work. You need admin rights for this in the first place itself.

glob - February 16, 2013, 9:31 am

Baaaad thread. Hella bad. It doesn't work at all op.

Hit the reset button on your router guys..

bagsik_123 - February 17, 2013, 3:41 am

Lols it wont work you have an administrative prevelage to access those botton..

SirMammingtonham - February 27, 2013, 6:41 pm

THIS'LL NEVER WORK ON MAH SKOOLS COMPUTER

Delete the thread, the tutorial doesn't work and your schools are already tracing your every move.
If this works for you, Mister OP, I suggest going into regedit.exe and change every single 0*00(0)
value with 0*001(1)

Magical things* will happen. Trust me.
