Ryuuji Takasu - February 20, 2013, 12:10 pm

Well osu activity is rising here so might as well make a official thread about it.

What you can do here:

1. brag
2. challenge people.
3. brag some more.
4. Discuss beatmaps.
5. Make beatmaps(<-this is harder then you think!)
6. No saying i'm online now come play if you want to - we don't have skype group for nothing you know ^^
7. This thread is not for discussing hacks or any of that sorts! please refrain from discussing hacks on this thread!
8. Please refrain from talking about ban evading if you are banned from osu contact their support(even tho its shit) we cannot help you here.

Finally the site is up you can visit it at: <http://osurhythm.site90.com/> and you can register at <http://osurhythm.site90.com/register.php> or you can click the link at the main site.

Osu is a rhythm game where you use your mouse to click circles to the beat of a song. (or fingers on a touch screen) There are many, many anime/japanese songs you can download and play which makes this game worthy of being in the Anime Adventures section.

Anyone know how to start playing with mouse and keyboard? I have just been using the mouse and LMB up to yesterday, but wanted to get faster.

When I do streams, I alternate to tap faster. Other than that, I mostly keep the beat with z but you might prefer to do it differently.

It's because you play hard maps and only get A-B-C ranks

King~ - March 7, 2013, 5:38 pm

So it would be pretty hard to get all the time zones set up in one night so new plan:

Play over the weekend at various times and hope to find each other! Search for a lobby starting with "HF". If you cant find one then create one yourself.

If you want to make it HF members only, default pass will be "1423"

This mode is called Catch the Beat. To get to it go to Play, Singleplayer, special, and then catch the beat (I think that's right, I'm saying this from memory)

It could be a form that adds the info to the chart and sorts it automatically. (I guess I just like to make simple things complicated...)

Maybe not SQL after all ?

It'd be cool if we figured out how the osu website tells whether people are online in game or not, so then we could include that and show who's online at the top of the list.

I would have to look into this more but I believe it is managed by BanchoBot

<http://osu.ppy.sh/wiki/BanchoBot>

I remembered that the osu chat it just a "front end" for IRC so maybe there would be a way to check if you are on IRC (meaning you are online). That would be the first step and then it may be possible to find what songs people are playing at a certain time and things like that.

Edit: some more documentation: <http://osu.ppy.sh/wiki/IRC>

That sounds familiar, but you can also be on irc.ppy.sh and it will say you're online in the game, but you won't have a rank. That might be a flaw in what we were thinking, but seriously, who sits in the IRC all day?

It is unnecessary to find that out, as it is easier to use other ways. You could just use webrequest to check OSU's webpage.

Any one with an up to date browser can use it.

Alexchaos - March 24, 2013, 10:52 am

Am I the only one who can't play after last update? When I open the game then choose solo play it freezes at "your beatmaps are being processed", same when going multiplier.

When I try to enter editor it just freezes and if I stay too long in the options it will freeze too.

Also the music still works even after the game freeze.

Edit: After opening/closing the game over 10 times I finally got to choose a song, but now it's stuck at loading the song (not frozen, just keeps loading forever).

If it's so easy then you obviously aren't playing the hard songs my friend.

It's about twice as easy as standard but it's fun to me.

You'll get there eventually :) Just make sure that if you're playing with a mouse you turn off mouse acceleration. It's probably the worst thing ever when it comes to standard.

Yeah, what is mouse acceleration? As far as I know my mouse is acting normal. ._.

Azsry - April 19, 2013, 5:59 pm

(Apr 19, 2013 05:43 PM)Hentai? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Mouse acceleration? Do explain this.

Say you have your mouse at the left edge of your mouse pad. When you move it 5cm at a speed of 2.5cm/s (2 seconds to complete the movement), it will only move a certain distance across your screen. Then, if you move it the same 5cm at a speed of 5cm/s (1 second to complete the movement), it will fly much further across your screen than the first experiment did. This shows that there is substantial acceleration when you move your mouse faster, trying to facilitate for less shoulder movement to get to a certain area on your screen.

However, this is essentially hell for osu! because when you want to move to the next note quickly, you don't exactly want the cursor to fly off incredibly fast in that direction due to this, because your cursor will miss the note completely. This is because the mouse's speed increases as the acceleration increases over the movement's period.

If you have a Razer mouse, you can turn off mouse acceleration in Synapse, but if you have anything else that doesn't allow this to be toggled, you can get a fix here:

<http://donewmouseaccel.blogspot.com.au/2010/03/markc-windows-7-mouse-acceleration-fix.html>

After you install the .reg you need to log off or restart your computer then turn on "Enhance cursor precision" in the Windows mouse settings.

Alexchaos - April 19, 2013, 6:01 pm

Ah my mouse is fine, either there's no acceleration or I got used to it the way it was.

Azsry - April 19, 2013, 6:04 pm

You can still try the fix, just to make sure. I was used to using my mouse with acceleration, but since I've turned it off, my accuracy has improved drastically and when I try to use it with acceleration I can't aim at anything at all. That may just be because I use 1800dpi though.

Good is 85%+

It depends, if you did like me and screw up your accuracy with insane maps when you could barely do them then you'll have a hard time getting your accuracy up.

Mine's currently at 92.49% but it took me a while to get there because of all the bad scores I had.
xD

edit: I'm lvl 69

?hadow - August 8, 2013, 5:02 pm

I'm level 94 with an accuracy of 97.23% and I consider that bad, it comes down to how high your own standards are.

That's because they request something that's generally already there or something which would require an entire overhaul of one of the servers. Ags' idea just requires adding a new filter which calls on the Friend's Ranking leaderboard for score and date played and lists it again.

Yeah I do. I have a Razer Blackwidow Tournament Edition. It takes a while to get used to because a key takes longer to press than a membrane keyboard, but once you get used to it it's so accurate :D It also allows you to singletap songs like Kokou no Sousei xD (Vid up in a bit).

gotta tip for ya'll.

If you go to the mod menu thing... select hard rock on a song you can't play or is too zoomed in hard rock zooms it out and well smaller etc.

most of the time hard rock doesn't make a song any harder then maybe reverse how the map is played or and extra hit.

Inb4itmeterserrors.

It meters errors.

What it does is every time you press a key, it places it somewhere on the scale where getting +-0ms with the circle is in the center, and it goes to the left if it's early and right if it's late. Afterwards the game displays this as a number when you hover over the graph at the results screen. That version is merely a visual representation of that number.

There's new phones coming out all the time, so that should really be fixed.

Seeing as there's not that many good rhythm games on android. D:

I would also recommend removing the background movie thing etc.

Hmm this weekend were all going to play every one in the osu chat is going to play idc if your having a hearth attack we are going to play till we fucking die ok?

good.

Some rules:

1. room master is going to rotate so everyone can play what they want atleast 1 time.
2. Don't start the game if not every one is ready or has the map downloaded.

3. You can play insane maps but of course not to many so room master 1 does insane one room master 2 cannot pick an insane map so it continues.
4. Respect each others choices of game modes and maps played!
5. Don't rage quit ^^
6. Have a shit ton of fun.

When will it start?

I shall announce it in the Osu skype chat if you are not part of this chat yet add me on skype: Elmar [Ryuuji Takasu]

Please say that you are from HF and taht you want to join the osu chat in the message if you are going to add me! otherwise I will just ignore the invite.

I probably would die countless times if i tried that map xD.

Maybe if I play it on CTB I'll be able to complete it.

Osu is pleasantly difficult, but OsuMania is essentially a much easier version of Stepmania.

Sight reading on this game is incredibly difficult. Looks like memorization is the key.

I don't agree with that. If that was true, then people couldn't FC site reads :3

OFC memorization does matter if you keep trying to complete a certain hard song, but it's not all of it. As you practice, you should notice that your ability to follow the notes with your eyes and hands increases.

I'm no stranger to rhythm games. I've got around 40k plays on FFR. Sight reading those tripple slides is so difficult on Osu though. On a high BPM song, you have so little time to react to them.

I think this thread is missing a thing.

What it is are beatmap makers!

So if you're making beatmaps(doesn't matter if they are ranked have to be good though :P) reveal yourself.

Be the first to have an spot on the thread of your own(like agsking has) in beatmap making.

Of course I will try out the maps and see if you are indeed legible for this.

Also making a tutorial(detailed) on how to create beatmaps would be awesome.

There aren't many of these so if you/we can make that happen we can share it on the osu forums as well.

And even bring more attention to here?

So what are you still waiting for? start making beatmaps already!

That's a common misunderstanding. You don't have to have a tablet to be good at osu!. Many people in the top 1000 still play with a mouse. I used to use a mouse until I was rank 12000, then swapped to tablet.

I always feel like I'm never going to get better but then I do. Just keep practicing and it helps (at least for me) if you go in multi and play with high ranks and play songs you already know you can't do. Like play with rank 5k-15k and once you keep playing the really hard songs, the songs you were playing don't seem so bad anymore.

There are some 'Hard' songs which can prove quite challenging, so even if you don't feel ready to move up to Insane, rest assured that there are some songs with relatively difficult Hard difficulties. I'll list some below.

MuryokuP - Overture

Nekomata Master feat. Hayashi Momoko - Rainbow after snow

Harada Hitomi, Kayano Ai & Ogura Yui - Maware! Setsugekka

Nhato - LIMBO

Afilia Saga - S.M.L

kors k - Drive Me Crazy (ampzz)

Hanazawa Kana - Mousou Express

ZAQ - Alteration

STEREO DIVE FOUNDATION - Daisy

Igorrr - Pavor Nocturus

Hecq - Dstrukt

goreshit - o'er the flood

Subplaid - Only time makes your happiness

Subplaid - Jeg onskerikke a skade deg (hope I spelt that correctly)

Renard - Da Nu Nuttah

Halozy - Dut ~Usagi Tobi Suteppu~

Infected Mushroom - The Pretender (Nemis)

Caravan Palace - Rock It For Me

Ryu* - KOROBUSHKA (Ryu* Remix)

Tamura Yukari - W: Wonder tale (koreapenguin)

paraoka - boot (Laurier)

DECO*27 feat. marina - Aimai Elegy

PinocchioP - Kusaregedou to Chocolate

07th Expansion - Worldenddominator

07th Expansion - rog-unlimitation

Rhodanthe* - Jumping!!

That should be enough for now.

Splitting the cost between my younger brother and me.
We can't really here. If I wanted anything better I'd be paying up to something like $200/month. Since I don't have my own solid income I can't ask my parents to pay that much. Even with that price, it's unreliable as it uses satellites. We were going to have a nation-wide broadband scheme in Australia, but the government is retarded, quite frankly.

Download the beatmap packs listed and play the first difficulty these are the easiest you can get really.
Also keep an eye on the stars they range from 0 to 5 the higher the harder(no pun intended).

If CTB is simple, then you are saying the standard osu mode is complex? All you do is click circles...

The whole game is "simple"

What you're saying is indeed true but it is much easier to get 100% at a catch the beat song in comparison to Osu! Standard, just look at the high scores and you will see that most of the time the whole top 50 has 100%..

Yes, but that is you comparing one game mode's scores to another.

I'm not exactly sure how to explain it, but this might (probably not) make sense:

It's like if you get 100 points (for example) in Call of Duty, and then you go and play Skyrim and get 150 points (yes, I know that i not how it works). Just because the score you got in Skyrim is greater than your score in call of duty, that doesn't mean you did better in comparison.
(Horrible explanation, I know)

tl;dr: Compare CTB score/difficulty to other CTB scores/difficulties, and the same for standard osu.

Make sure you install the drivers, and then there should probably be a config program that get's installed or something. For wacom tablets, it's "Wacom Tablet Properties".

AR9 can prove harder than AR10 because the circles pile up and also come in closer together, giving a false impression of speed.

If your mouse comes with software you can turn mouse acceleration off and turn up the DPI. I always say that having a mouse isn't a valid excuse for being worse than others. I played with a Logitech wireless mouse until I was 22,000 rank and then a Razer Naga Hex until 12,000.

Does it feel unnatural when you're moving the mouse around? When I used a mouse it felt more like an extension of my arm so I didn't ever feel sore holding it. It may just be because it was a very nice fit for my hands. Long maps take time and practice to master, so don't expect to be able to jump into Scarlet Rose or Talent Shredder and sightread it.

Well, maybe it's because that when I'm playing a long map. My hand starts to grip tight on my mouse. Sometimes I don't even notice it until a song goes on break or until it ends.

There goes my ranking (just got under 4000 for taiko too)

EDIT: Now I'm ranked 6300 something?

He started implementing the ppv2 system already, but it's incredibly buggy. Expect your rank to fluctuate quite often in the next few days until it's completely implemented. That said, ppv2 recalculates your pp based on a new algorithm (`player.rank = random();`), so your rank will most likely decrease due to this change.

I made another skin a few days ago if you want to try it out. Also for ShadowPlay to work do you need to be in fullscreen? The overlay doesn't seem to appear on my osu!, but I play fullscreen windowed.

Yes it does appear in every other game I have, and I have longed to be able to record live plays without A/V lag.

If you happen to have windows 8, there is a bug and you need to keep the in-game mouse sensitivity to 1.0.

While admittedly sort of rare (from what I have personally seen, at least), there are players far beyond my skill who use mouse, so you don't need one. I do like using a tablet better though.

I played with a mouse until I got to rank 12000, then swapped to a tablet. If you can, try increasing the DPI of your mouse, turning off mouse acceleration if you haven't already and reverting your mouse sensitivity in osu! to 1.0x if you can change DPI.

Bubby and TimmyTimTims use a mouse. I'm pretty sure Sylvia also uses a mouse so it's not too rare. Still, the ratio of high-ranked people who use tablet:mouse is higher than 5:1.

Try it out! It's really nothing like synthesia though (other than osu!mania mode, which still is pretty different).

Ok, downloading osu! atm. Looks hard as hell though.

Project Diva is more of a 'press the correct button' game, while osu! is a point-and-click-while-timing-it-correctly game. It requires more skill than Project Diva, but since you've played it already, you'll feel more comfortable with the timing aspect of osu!.

Me, Azsry, Barrier, and Hentai have <http://www.wacom.com/en/us/creative/intuos-pen>

The official osu tablet is cheaper, but not as good as the intuos (while I have heard it works well enough) but you may have had to pre-order them for the first batch (I'm not sure).

I bought mine a few weeks ago for around 30-40 bucks. It works great on Osu! right now, and It's small. I got mine from eBay

Mine looks like this:

It might have been a better choice for me because I'm used to the slipperiness of my old tablet compared to the scratchiness of the Intuos. Pre-orders are full for the first batch as far as I know, and the pen is slightly heavier because it has a battery inside it.

Not necessarily, since ppv2 calculates pp completely differently to ppv1. All it means is that you're improving on the area that ppv2 favours the most.

On the old system, if you got a low rank on practically any map and you were above #5000 you'd get pp for it. On the new system I got a #7 record on a easier map and I didn't get any pp at all for it. It's leans more on skill than where you are on the leaderboards for any particular map now.

The old system had more loopholes than my 13 year old pajamas. I don't know exactly how ppv2 works but it certainly seems more fair compared to ppv1. I personally enjoyed osu! the most when peppy removed ranking altogether.

Nice job.

Just a note, 5 stars covers a huge range of difficulty for when you get there. You really don't use it at that point. There has been talk of using the difficulty value calculated by the new Performance Point algorithm as a gauge of difficulty instead of stars, but I don't know if they have actually considered it.

Basically new maps have all 5 star difficulties and maybe 1 4 star, so it doesn't even give an indication of difficulty.

People use Z and X on the keyboard instead of mouse clicks because it's faster and doesn't interrupt your mouse/tablet movements.

I can't play Normal because it feels like it has nothing to do with the song. :/ Use No Fail if you have to, but getting used to the harder difficulties is a must, since a lot of maps nowadays are getting more difficult in general.

Question for the mouse players here (I hope there are any aside from myself ;_~), what DPI / mouse sensitivity do you use?

I used to play on 2000 DPI with 1.0x sensitivity, but as I'm moving on to harder maps I struggle a lot with maps which have huge jumps across the screen, since I somewhat lose grip of my mouse during those. I changed it to 1.5x sensitivity now, need to get used to that and see if it helps me in the end lol.

Just curious as to what other people use. :o

1800dpi, 1.0x in osu! and 6/11 in Windows with acceleration turned off. You'll get used to jumps with more practice, but if you have too small an area to move your mouse you may need to compromise by increasing the sensitivity in osu!. I use a tablet now but that's what I ran for about a year and a half to get to #12000.

The problem is literally that my fingers aren't long enough for some jumps since I don't move my hand at all and move the mouse just with my fingers. Therefore, when I have to move it from one side of the screen to the other quickly I have to push it to the point that my fingers are barely even touching the mouse anymore, making it incredibly hard to keep playing the map until a break comes. It's kind of hard to explain haha.

BTW, I have a Rin & Len pack made already: <http://osudl.tk/>

Edit: Just realized this seemed pretty hypocritical... let me explain

I know some people who have downloaded every map pack and THEN started playing them. They now have many horrible maps along with the good ones. When I download an individual map and play it, if it is bad, I'll delete it, otherwise, I'll keep it.

If you download one pack at a time though, you can go through all the songs and filter it.

Ignore PP and just play fairly challenging beatmaps. You'll improve with practice, but it won't happen overnight.

part of me was expecting that link lol

I've spent most of March playing 'fairly challenging' beatmaps. One month later I noticed the fairly challenging beatmaps are still fairly challenging, I still couldn't beat most of the maps I couldn't beat before and my scores on individual maps didn't improve by a noticeable amount. That kinda made me feel down and since then I've just been relaxing on easier maps. :/

On a side note, it doesn't exactly help that some 'Insane' maps are ridiculously easy, some really challenging and some ridiculously hard, makes looking for new maps to play a pain. ;_; that I know from a anime or the most popular one. Then when I think I gotten good I would play

You don't have to alternate keys like that since the song is slow enough to use one finger.

If you play osu! to improve at the game, it's not going to be fun.
I play osu! because I think it's a fun game, not because I particularly want to become good at it, that's just something that comes with playing a lot.

The best mappers usually map insane and higher maps, so it's difficult to recommend for someone starting out. You'll probably want to just download one of the newest packs at a time and play through them, or downloading songs individually.

For me, it took about 4 days to relearn, but once you get it down it's much easier to improve. You also need to play around with the settings to find out what's best for you. For instance,

It took me a while but I found out I did the best in windowed 1024x768 while using a very small amount of the surface area mapped to the window and using the eraser side of my pen. I hold my pen at a really flat angle so more than just the nib touch the tablet. It's annoying. The eraser side is large and smooth which I like.

It's all personal preference and your ability to adapt and learn the tablet.

In regards to improvement, here are some of my stats before and after.

Try and read the notes in the stream individually, I find that helps, if you just want to get better at one particular stream you could go to that part of the song in edit mode and practice it there.

On slower streams, focus on hitting the first circle of a stream and keeping a constant speed. Faster ones are harder OFC, but you get more used to them over time.

It's because the 2nd time you did it, you got lower accuracy. Accuracy counts in PPv2.

No idea why it doesn't submit the score with the highest amount of pp instead of just the highest score then, the way it is right now is really dumb and frustrating. I wish I could just delete the score I got just now or something . _ .

When you're a member of the site that creates the hacks, and you know someone that can make the hacks, the signs become obvious.

iMew - May 18, 2014, 5:07 pm

Maybe I'm just being really ignorant... but what's the point in creating a ranking ladder for hacking players? Ranking people by how well they use their hacks / which hacks they have access to seems really dumb.

To be honest, a server for hackers seems pretty useless except for hacking in multiplayer. Simply playing with hacks can be done in offline mode as well.

Play using your mouse to move the cursor and Z and X to click. Don't click with your mouse. You can press F10 to disable mouse buttons.

Great, ill download it somewhere today.

is it easy to learn but difficult to master?

osu!: Z and X to click. Move mouse. Click circles in time.

Taiko: Two red keys and two blue keys. Press corresponding ones in time.

Mania: it's kinda like piano. Sounds the most difficult in theory.

I've been playing for about 1.5 years and I'm rank #4.7K.

That's because he just slapped the video on top and turned down the opacity, whereas the other guy used a greenscreen to mask out the tablet surface so he could overlay the footage. It looks nicer to have the nib perfectly aligned with the cursor as if he's actually got the screen there.

You'll have to edit all the sound files for the skin you're using.

skins can be found: C:\Program Files\Osu!\Skins or C:\Program Files(x86)\Osu!\Skins

I do not know the exact names for the files that you will need but I bet if you ask on the osu forums(skin section) you'll find an answer there.

Get a sound that you like (must be .wav) and make copies of it, renaming them:

normal-hitclap.wav

normal-hitclap2.wav

normal-hitclap3.wav

normal-hitfinish.wav

normal-hitnormal.wav

normal-hitwhistle.wav

...and do the same again, but use the soft- prefix instead of normal- for the other sound set, then place them in a folder called whatever you want in the osu!\Skins folder. If you had osu! open already go to the Skins menu and select another skin, then go back to your skin to let it reload.

I am officially the best singletapper here.

If singletaps were streams I could stream a 190 BPM stream with my middle finger.

That looks like it's because you haven't centered the images correctly, so where the game thinks the center is (and where the anchor point for rotation is), is actually slightly offset, making it look like it jitters.

but .. Here comes the sad part :C

I'm really good for normal (too slow for me) but when I try hard I need to click the circles so fast but there's too many and they are mixed up. I can do the rolling and stuff but the circles are just killing me. Normal > too slow

Hard > too much circle clicking :C

You're supposed to tap them halfway. If you use the properly they can be much better than any other switch imo. as long as you aren't a lard ass and you don't need something like reds because "it's easier to push"

I'd just wait for a while as if they see you're multiaccounting, they'll immediately discredit the defense for your previous account.

I've had some reasons in mind:

1. This video - (fake video)

[Video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=hmS5vn2oHWc>]

2. Abusing userpage (writing that the osu!tablet worths nothing and people should buy from Wacom instead of giving peppy cash) [and the ban occurred less than a day after I did that]

3. Multi accounting in the past, actually a little bit before ppv2 I've made an account with the name Aq0 for trolling (Aq0 is the best member in the osu! community imo, nothing against this amazing guy <3), they banned it and silenced my main account for 300 hours with the reason "multi-account creation/abusing" so I didn't do anything after it.

4. Used a skin that comes with a modified osu!ui.dll file that they posted on forums, maybe it got counted as hacking.

Nothing else in mind.

I think I'm done with osu! for life.

I've been trying, you know? I keep trying to keep my cool, and with my anger issues it's really hard. You think you're gonna fc a song and get excited, but nope. I shouldn't kid myself like that, I'm shit at the game and will stay shit forever because I'm done. This game purges all the happiness out of you and replaces it with turmoil, demoralization and fuck. My mom took my kid away from me because I dislocated his arm by accident when I tried to rip him away from my computer area because he disturbed me in the middle of trying to fc a song. I was so close, but then I completely lose my concentration after seeing the little shit out of the corner of my eye asking when I'm going to make dinner.

Part of me is sorry for the kid, and the rest (most) of me just hates him for fucking me up and is only worried about what my mother is going to do. Regardless, I'm fed up with all of the negative emotions that osu! had brought out of me and I think it's time to put away my tablet for good. Also, for anyone who wants to have kids, don't. Especially don't if you have a crazy mother that just decides to stay the night whenever she feels like it.

2. Everyone gets mad and frustrated at this game. It happens all the time, you need to learn to take a deep breath and just keep on playing. Trust me when I say I know how it feels to almost FC a song and never be able to do it. I retried 110 times(10 are off screen from 5 mins earlier). Just because you made a mistake doesn't mean you need to quit. You just need to play in moderation and play easier songs.

I think it is a good idea to quit or at least take a break if the game is having this much of an effect on you. Personally, the frustration of not being able to FC a song is what drives me to try even harder and to get better, but if it is making you angry to the point of breaking things (or dislocating arms) then there's no need to force yourself. Well, that's at least how they're supposed to go about it.

It's something along the lines of silencing the main account, and removing the other one.

Can't remember correctly.

Silenced basically means that you can only play the game, you can't chat, change your user profile, or avatar.

Restriction mode is a new mode people get after they get caught multi-accounting, if it's an error and you don't multi-account your account will work normally after 24 hours, if it's still like that just send a support ticket, they reply to stuff like this case.

I wish I could play insane songs 100%. I've been playing properly for about 5 months now (the reason I say properly is because I actually played on and off or stopped playing for periods of time) and can only play hard songs.

Does anyone have some insane songs that could ease me into learning the jump in difficulty from insane to hard?

I think those are some of the first ones I managed to beat. The problem is that there isn't really a 'jump in difficulty' because some insane maps are easier than some hard maps.

For example, this on hard is actually on-par or more difficult than the ones I mentioned above on insane.

If you need more maps / don't like the ones I posted (because I mostly play TV sizes lol) just use Tillerino like agsking mentioned.

I downloaded all those maps and will play them tonight, thanks for the help friend! Instead of trying to move from playing mainly hard to mainly insane songs, you should probably focus on the stars. They're a much more reliable way of telling how difficult a song is ever since they were changed. Just sort the beatmaps by difficulty, find a map you can somewhat play and try to beat other maps that have a similarly high difficulty.

Anyone got advice for not getting nervous and freezing up at the end of maps? :(

I can play ~5 stars but I have trouble fcing maps because whenever I'm doing better than my last play I start freaking out thinking "omg I'm gonna break combo!" and then I inevitably break combo. I also tense up a lot when I get close to fcing a map. It used to be manageable but now that maps are getting harder it's really screwing me up a lot.

So baisscally I was just wondering what mindset people who can play harder maps have when they approach them.

I can play ~5 stars but I have trouble fcing maps because whenever I'm doing better than my last play I start freaking out thinking "omg I'm gonna break combo!" and then I inevitably break combo. I also tense up a lot when I get close to fcing a map. It used to be manageable but now that maps are getting harder it's really screwing me up a lot.

So baisscally I was just wondering what mindset people who can play harder maps have when they approach them.

Same thing happens to me. I just try to not think about it usually but end up doing it anyways. x.x

Please, don't play multiplayer in osu! if you're not an high ranked consistent player or you'll cry because you can't retry.

Ok so I wanted to start playing with mouse cause I'm getting a little bit bored of the game, but I felt like something was off with my aim cause I would just start the song from X spot on the mouse pad and end up on a total far away place, so I checked it out on a mouse recorder program and as it shows, every time I click on a circle the mouse doesn't respond for a really short period which is unnoticeable, but when there are lots of circles (ITS OSU DUH) and it stacks my hand just ends up on a different place on the pad for no reason.

I basically think it has something to do with the client somehow cause my fps doesnt drop at all+my pc is pretty strong to handle osu.

any help is welcome, I'm really exhausted trying to fix this issue.

Mech keyboards do help.

Stick with a rubber dome until you can stream 220, then your streaming will be really good on a mech keyboard.

You should always get Cherry switches:

Blues are clicky with a tactile . (Razer greens are basically blues with lower actuation force)

Reds aren't clicky, good for stamina.

Blacks are really good for stamina, not sure if clicky or not.

Someone else can give a better explanation than me I'm sure.

Yeah it would.

Btw, is there not some maps which give insane ammout of pp in CBT?
Some guy even stated you could get into 4 digits without really trying.

Do you have any beginner CTB maps to reccomend?
Wanna try it out ;)

Thought it was about time to update this piece of cp thread and give it a overhaul.
Me and Sejskaler are currently sort of working together on a nice design which should be up soon.
Maybe tonight not quite sure but stay tuned for it!

Spoiler (Click to View)Well osu activity is rising here so might as well make a official thread about it.
What you can do here:

1. brag
2. challenge people.
3. brag some more.
4. Discuss beatmaps.
5. Make beatmaps(<-this is harder then you think!)

6. No saying i'm online now come play if you want to - we don't have skype group for nothing you know ^^

7. This thread is not for discussing hacks or any of that sorts! please refrain from discussing hacks on this thread!

8. Please refrain from talking about ban evading if you are banned from osu contact their support(even tho its shit) we cannot help you here.

Finally the site is up you can visit it at: <http://osurhythm.site90.com/> and you can register at <http://osurhythm.site90.com/register.php> or you can click the link at the main site.

Yeah, I have the same exact problem.

On another note, I should really start playing different songs. I feel like the main reason my pp is so low (863pp) is that I don't play enough different songs at a high enough difficulty. It's not that I can't complete them, it's that I just don't play them. vOv what the fuck? no???

There's nothing wrong with wanting to farm a song to get a good score and then receive pp for your efforts, it's actually very rewarding and makes your gameplay better.

Well I suppose the point he may have been getting at is not to go around trying to find the best maps for pp, but find maps/songs you enjoy and play those. Sure it's fine to want to FC a song and try to get better etc., but to go around grinding songs only for pp and not for enjoyment, then you might lose any fun you had in the game.

Sorun - May 25, 2015, 5:10 pm

I've been hopping off and on lately if anyone wants to add me.

<https://osu.ppy.sh/u/sorun>

Might pp whore myself to the 4 digit range again.

OsulMofo - May 27, 2015, 7:15 am

The point of farming is doing something over and over again showing your worth of getting the PP you deserve hence DT Jumps = PP farm maps

Farming isn't a bad term just showcased bad.

Theres a video chippy released about farming which he got pretty decent statements in

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=oKMD8vXPkro>

I myself farm sometimes but i prefer playing hard songs and being good at that then play easy ar8+dt songs and farm PP all day. eventhough I'm rank 8008 I really don't care about PP and farming that much, i just farm when i feel ever like doing so.

Anyway here's my list of plays:

1missed on Shotgun Seniorita, Bad acc on Kitta Izumi, Passed Airman, DT'd pass Weep Irish, Yanagani DT 10.3 pass, Remote control 1x pass (trying to pass it DT), granat 3 miss, midnight seige DT pass, Nightmare overtorture (Played this map at like 50k to DT), Princess of the night DT SS, Freedom dive [Four Dimensions] (Still rip), Masterpiece HR pass perfect squares, Scarlet rose x4 passed.

Hence my playcount is 24,130, you could prob add 10k playcount to that with all the unranked maps.

I was really suprisd he was still this good. He would get easily back in top 10 if he was unbanned..

Also - Hakurei Reimu- was unbanned recently and in a few days got from rank #69 to rank #20 which is quite impressive!

I saw he was but wasn't following his progress that's pretty impressive that he's gained that much rank in so little time. Do you know why he was officially banned though I heard a couple reasons.

I think he cheated the first time he got banned then multi-account. I'm not sure tho.

He hacked cos he wanted to quit osu, only to come back... Reimu is literally Cookiezi in disguise.

I'm like super bad at streams. Low bpm can't do that, high bpm can't do that as well.

KyHax - July 11, 2015, 5:17 pm

I've actually never seen an Osu! thread on here before. Lmao, I must be really outdated on here or something. Not as active as I used to be. :P Anyway, feel free to challenge me or something when I'm online on Osu!

My Osu! profile: <https://osu.ppy.sh/u/4635464> (I still need to get better, I am pretty bad so plz no pro's) ;-;

Kappa-chan - July 13, 2015, 3:28 pm

I'm playing osu since 2 Years now I just passed Big Black (Realy famous map) and I still enjoy this game, this game never gets boring :3
OSU FOR LIFE! That's what I think about osu!

Ryuuji Takasu - July 14, 2015, 5:17 pm

Started on Mania its way more fun than I thought.
CTB is getting boring and standard is idk :l

bumphehe just saying this thread needs to be revived

Nour - November 18, 2015, 1:35 pm

I'm average on osu, maybe under average. It's a hard ass game lmfao.

OsulMofo - November 28, 2015, 6:20 pm

Quick reminder, Cookiezi has been unbanned!

Yoko_ - January 30, 2016, 6:04 pm

So is it alright if I bump this thread then? lol

I fucking love osu!, well Catch the Beat specifically, I only play that gametype.

Any other CTB players? Add me if so. :3

FeelsBadMan,

Well what do you expect.. Not because osu! is known worldwide & millions of people play the game everyday like other games

YEah its a bunch of fun!

iDuL - February 20, 2016, 10:33 pm

Month old revival for all of you Osu players wanting some action.

Rayner - February 21, 2016, 1:38 am

Just got back into it, only able to do 4 stars at the moment.

Noice - February 21, 2016, 11:30 am

<https://osu.ppy.sh/u/6554821>

I play osu everyday and I can do 4-6 star maps.

phe0nix404 - February 22, 2016, 5:44 pm nice man...good post actually...

Inspective - February 23, 2016, 10:02 am

Making me want to go play Osu again lol started at the small fanbase and now has grown so much more.

Chips Ahoy McCoy - July 30, 2016, 12:19 am

This thread sure fell down a few pages. Anyone here still play at all? I just recently got an S on "Everything will freeze" by Undead Corp. It was pretty fun.

It's a hell of a lot better than mine xD.

Crya - July 30, 2016, 1:02 am

Oh god the half yearly OSU thread bump.

I suck at OSU so I play easy levels.
